

Town's Line Marker For Roads Vanishes; Workers Left Puzzled

What looked like a daring theft to end all daring thefts kept Pottstown police and highway workers busy at High and York streets at noon yesterday.

At 12:15 o'clock, it was discovered that the torpedo-like machine on wheels that is used to put lines on the borough streets was missing.

Charles Schwoyer, highway crewman who had left it on the back of a truck near High and York streets, didn't know whether some nifty thief had simply picked it up and wheeled it away.

He notified police, and he and patrolmen looked everywhere in the block for it. From Charles Park, co-owner of the Dutch grill at High and York streets, they got a report that he'd seen some medium-sized man pushing it away.

PARK, thinking the man was a highway crewman, hadn't paid any attention.

After nearly an hour of searching, Schwoyer and police were about to give up, and list it as a theft even more nifty than the previous high mark in larceny for the year—the stealing of a television set from a Pottstown church in broad daylight.

Schwoyer and another crewman had to go back to the lining job, doing it by hand.

Nearly an hour after it was discovered missing, Schwoyer mentioned the unusual incident to Frank Keegan, assistant borough engineer.

Fight Fails; Youth Dies

Anxiety and deep concentration are portrayed in the faces of these five persons who are fighting to keep a person alive during the most dramatic and tense medical battle in the history of borough hospitals. The 20-year-old youth on the stretcher stopped breathing four-and-a-half hours before this picture was taken. His chest was cut open and his heart massaged by hand for 15 minutes. The picture was taken as the youth was being transferred from Memorial hospital to Pottstown hospital. At left is the victim's father, William G. Silvano Sr. Next is Edward

HEART RUBBED, BUT MAN DIES

Youth, 20, Kept Alive 5 Hours by Doctors

By NORMAND POIRIER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

By massaging his heart with their hands and doing his breathing for him, doctors in both borough hospitals yesterday valiantly kept alive for more than five hours a frightened, 20-year-old youth who suddenly stopped breathing on the operating table.

In one of the most dramatic and intense battles for life in the history of local hospitals, at least five doctors and scores of nurses and ambulance workers gave everything they had in medical knowledge, skill, stamina and courage.

But death won out.

William G. Silvano Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Silvano, 445½ Walnut street, who went to the hospital to have his teeth pulled, died shortly after two o'clock yesterday.

The boy's dentist commented last night that the case was so rare that "to say that the odds of his dying were a million to one wouldn't be nearly enough."

TO KEEP alive the victim, who suddenly stopped breathing while under anesthetic, two doctors cut open his chest, moved aside his ribs and massaged his heart for 15 minutes with their hands.

For more than four-and-a-half hours, another doctor did the young man's breathing for him by artificial respiration.

In a last desperate attempt to keep the spark of life going, a delicate cross-town transfer of the victim from Memorial hospital to Pottstown hospital was made.

Three separate respirators were used in the transfer that demanded clock-work precision and flawless team work.

An emergency telephone call was made to a noted chest surgeon in Philadelphia for additional instructions.

But the battle ended with the youth in the iron lung at Pottstown hospital.

AND THE last words that Silvano had said, as the anesthetic's mask was slipped over his face at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, were, "I'm afraid."

Several doctors involved in the case said that the boy was so frightened that the fear may have been partly responsible for his unusual death.

Exact cause of death won't be known until an autopsy is completed today.

The youth entered Memorial hospital Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in preparation for yesterday's operation.

He was to have had 18 teeth pulled, members of his family said.

THE DENTIST in charge of the case was Dr. C. S. Leventhal. The anesthetic for the operation was Dr. John A. Anthony.

The youth was put under the anesthetic at 9 a. m. "The anesthetic was gas and ether," Dr. Anthony said, "one of the safest anesthetics of which we know."

After seven minutes, during which time Dr. Leventhal had pulled five teeth, the boy suddenly stopped breathing.

Dr. Anthony immediately began administering artificial respiration.

He administered it by squeezing and then letting go of the pumping bag like balloon attached to the respirator.

Seconds after he started applying it, the youth's heart stopped beating.

VICTIM'S FEAR TOLD BY MOTHER

Saddened Mrs. Silvano Recalls How Son Was Well-Liked

"He was afraid. He was a big boy, but he was afraid," Mrs. William G. Silvano, mother of the 20-year-old youth who died yesterday afternoon after a dramatic battle to save him failed, wept last night as she tried to realize what had happened.

She recalled that her son didn't want to have an anesthetic administered by needle. He wanted to be put to sleep.

"He was terribly afraid of the needle," she said. "Why, at the Army (her son was in the National Guard) he would worry for two days because he heard he was going to get shots."

"HE WAS in good health. He had a physical examination just Monday and the doctor told him to go right ahead with the operation."

As she sat at the kitchen table, holding her head in her hands, three young children, not realizing what had happened, played and laughed next to her.

"Everybody liked him. He was such a good boy."

The boy's father said he knew something was wrong when he had received no news of the operation by noon yesterday.

"Dr. Leventhal said he'd call us as soon as it was over. I went to the hospital at noon and when he saw me he took my arm and started walking me down the hall," he recalled, his lips quivering.

"I knew right away something was wrong. Right away I knew it. I told him right away that if something was wrong to tell me. And he said . . . said, 'Get the priest.'"

Mrs. Silvano praised the work of the doctors and nurses. "They did everything they could. I never saw so many doctors and nurses around anybody."

MEANWHILE, one of the doctors who worked on the youth and helped in the massaging of the heart.

MAN HERE TELLS OF PRESIDENT'S NEW APPOINTEE

Admiral Radford Called Friendly, Real Navy Man

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

You can take it from a Pottstown man who cut Admiral Arthur Radford's hair that President Eisenhower's nominee as new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is friendly, a real Navy man and has a full head of hair.

The Pottstown man is Leonard Rachild, 67 North Franklin street, who served with Admiral Radford aboard the USS Independence at the second battle of the Philippines during World War II.

Tuesday, Admiral Radford was named by the President to hold the post.

"Wonderful, really wonderful," was Rachild's description of the four-star admiral. "He was really very friendly. He has the personality they need to get some unfication down there."

"If he wasn't the type of man he is," Rachild asked, "would he have sent a photograph and letter this way to an enlisted man he hadn't seen in nearly ten years?"

The photograph of the admiral in full uniform, is inscribed, "To Leonard Rachild, with sincere personal regards and best wishes to an old shipmate. (Signed) Arthur Radford."

Work on Apartments Begins in Stowe

The first major residential unit to be built near the new Doehler-Jarvis division plant at Bramcote, West Pottsgrove township, was under construction yesterday.

Building it was Frank Smith, 540 West High street, Stowe, who owned the big tract of land sold to Doehler's three years ago for its $1,000,000 expansion program.

It will be an apartment building, with four apartments in it. The building will be located between the end of the Doehler property and Smith's home.

Smith is former proprietor of a barber shop at 20 South Hanover street, now operated by a son, James C. Smith.

Town Traffic Light Loses Scrape With Trailer Truck

The traffic light on the northwest corner of Charlotte and East streets was broken late Tuesday or early yesterday by a tractor trailer truck that scraped it rounding the corner.

Merrill G. Duckworth, grocer at the corner, reported that it was repaired yesterday morning by Charles Snyder, electrician. The borough manager's office said it had not yet received a report from police on who the driver was.

For the third straight day, temperatures yesterday tried to stick their heads over all-time records.

The mercury rose at 3 p. m. to a high of 86 for the day and maintained that summery altitude until 6 o'clock.

The record for all May 13's is 90 degrees, set in 1944.

Actually, temperatures just took a stroll from their home base yesterday.

At 4 a. m., the thermometer read 68; at 3 a. m. this morning the reading was exactly the same.

The prediction for today, however, predicted a break in the weather.

Bus Line to Begin North End Service

The president of the Murphy streets were in such bad condition that "they were dangerous to the safety of passengers."

Walter L. Murphy, who recently was granted permission by the Public Utilities commission to service the area, gave The Mercury his schedule yesterday.

In announcing his change of plans, Murphy pointed out that there would be only two runs a day until the North End streets are repaired.

Several days after he received approval from the PUC, (about two weeks ago) he made a trial run of the streets in one of his buses, only to discover that the

ZONING GROUP STUDIES PLANS

Penn Institute Members Meet With Local Commission

The possibilities of re-zoning various sections of Pottstown were given a going over last night by members of the zoning commission.

Meeting in borough hall with two representatives of the Government Consulting Service Institute of Local and State Government, University of Pennsylvania, in borough hall, the group studied numerous recommendations for changing the zoning code.

A major problem confronting the commission was the advisability of changing the code on High street, between Bailey and Keim streets, from a residential zone to a commercial zone.

C. P. Cella and M. L. Webb, representing the institute opposed such a move. The group then decided to take the recommendation under consideration.

ANOTHER QUESTION which the group asked was is there room available for industrial expansion, and if there is, where?

The consultants answered yes. They told the commission that the area lying south of the Reading railroad and west of Manatony street was the most likely region for expansion because of its accessibility to the highways.

Chairman of the zoning commission H. Y. Seidel, noted that the recommendation was sent to the local group in November, but this was the first meeting with institute representatives since that time.

He said members of the commission would be met.

Big Bertha's Daughter Wins Love of Soldiers

The atomic "Big Bertha" fires a practice shot at Aberdeen Proving Grounds. Note size of gun compared to men in foreground. In upper right is a closer view of the gun.

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
(Central Press Correspondent)

ABERDEEN, Md., May 13 — "Big Bertha's progeny is doing very well, thank you!"

All you have to see to believe that there is a new lease on life for the long line of big guns that stretches from the Battle of Crecy in 1326, through the dramatic interlude of the 76-mile shelling of Paris by the Germans in 1918, is to witness the jubilation here of the artillerymen over their brand new 280-mm. mobile atomic gun.

It is their answer to "all that moonshining" of Air Force advocates who sometimes seem to imply that they think the field gun is as dead in modern warfare as the proverbial dodo.

And up-to-the-minute developments in the Korean war, accentuating the role of the artillery, lend support to the big gun enthusiasts.

THE RUSSIANS, always great hands at artillery, have schooled their Chinese Communist pupils in the techniques which made their field weapons such a big factor in the halting of the Germans before Moscow and elsewhere on the Eastern Front in World War II.

It used to be an unusual day in Korea when the Communists fired 500 rounds of artillery. Lately in the terrific battles around Triangle Hill and Sniper ridge, the Chinese rolled up 200 field pieces and shelled Allied lines with 23,000 rounds a day.

Then the dramatic duel between Communists and United Nations artillerymen started, and in three days the Kumhwa valley shuddered under barrages that reminded veteran infantry officers of comparable scenes in both World Wars I and II.

On a Tuesday the Chinese sent over that record 23,000 rounds. One day later the volume of fire was cut by Allied counter blasting to only 11,000 rounds, and on Thursday it dropped to 4000.

The front was quiet on Friday. "That was the work of the artillery; no air forces achievement," proudly proclaimed the handlers of the big guns. "Wait 'til we get the new 280-mm. gun!"

OF COURSE, observers of the trends of Korean fighting point out that the ascendancy of the artillery there naturally coincides with the emergence of "a war of position."

The Germans used such a lull in 1918 to author the Big Bertha exploit, which still is classic in the saga of the artillery through the centuries.

On a quiet March 23, Parisians were startled when a shell exploded in the streets, as if from nowhere. True, the rumblings of the battle front 70 miles away could be heard in the metropolis when the wind was right, but no gun with such range was known to exist.

For 140 days "Big Bertha" made her weight felt. Enough shells were lobbed into Paris to kill 256 persons. The Allies tried to pooh-pooh it, but in retrospect the seriousness is not discounted.

Nor is the achievement of the Germans deprecated by artillery specialists. Big Bertha was one of several huge guns built at the Krupp munitions works, and nicknamed after Frau Bertha von Bohlen, head of the Krupp family.

The gun was 110 feet long, weighed 142 tons, and fired a 264-pound shell 76 miles with very poor accuracy. Firing occurred on every third day. By contrast, Uncle Sam's new artillery pride is much more supple, capable of great accuracy, highly mobile, but big enough to be in the same class.

A marvel of engineering, the new weapon weighs 42 tons, and hurls an 11-inch shell with pinpoint accuracy for 20 miles. The shells may be either convention or atomic.

Don't relegate such artillery solely to the old version of "a war of position," say artillerymen. Moved by two huge motor trucks, the gun can be set up and fired in 20 minutes, instead of three days. It has its own built-in re-

US, Canada May Unite to Fight Sea Lamprey, Lake Fish Killer

By H. D. CRAWFORD

WASHINGTON, May 13 — A destructive killer is loose in the Great lakes. Damages from his devastations have already run into many millions of dollars. Canada and the United States are negotiating on possible co-operative warfare to control his depredations.

This killer is the sea lamprey. His victims are lake trout and other valuable fish that for generations have been an abundant source of food.

Unless warfare against him is successful, the sea lamprey threatens complete destruction of the Great lakes fishing industry. Lake trout fishing of Lake Huron and Lake Michigan is already destroyed, and the lamprey has now entered Lake Superior and may spread similar devastation unless successfully blocked.

Losses due to this predatory parasite that attaches itself to food and game fish and kills or scars them are estimated at $5 million or more each year since 1949.

Eight state governments, the province of Ontario, and the national governments of Canada and the United States are carrying on research in an effort to curb the sea lamprey. Negotiations began recently with Canada, looking toward co-ordination of efforts to reduce lamprey depredations.

THE UNITED STATES alone has spent about $2,250,000 on research into the sea lamprey's living habits in an effort to discover his greatest vulnerability and to experiment with best way of exterminating him. Next Spring a new pilot plant will begin operation along Lake Superior under the direction of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

While officials are not yet revealing the exact nature of the proposed convention with Canada to control the sea lamprey, or the estimated cost of an all-out joint war aimed at his destruction, they do concede that the cost of controlling the lamprey would be far less than the losses now suffered from his Great lakes destruction.

The first sea lamprey was discovered in Lake Erie in 1921. A dwarf form known locally as "lake lampreys" was found in Lake Ontario as early as 1893. Niagara Falls prevented the sea lamprey from reaching the upper lakes, but Welland canals provided a means of elevating some of the lamprey into Lake Erie.

Noticeable destruction of fish by the lampreys has been only in recent years. Rapid decline of Lake Huron trout fishing began in the late 1930's. Since 1945 this predatory creature has destroyed the trout fishing of Lake Michigan and has entered Lake Superior.

LAKE MICHIGAN'S experience shows you the menace of the sea lamprey. Early in this century, more than eight million pounds of fish were taken annually from Lake Michigan. Even as late as the World War II period, the yearly take exceeded six million pounds. By 1949, however, the trout annual catch had plunged to 342,000 pounds, and since then it has declined to a negligible amount.

Adult sea lampreys are one to two feet long and have a six-year life cycle. In the Spring lampreys

Lions Hear Talk on Rock Formations

AMITYVILLE & WEAVERTOWN—Mrs. Daniel Maderia, corr. Phone Birdsboro 2-4023, Dale Marsteller, del., Phone Yellow House 9-4724.

Dr. Borneman, of Boyertown, spoke on rock formations before members of the Amity Lions club at the meeting held in Monarch fire hall.

The Senior class of Amity spent three days in Washington D. C. They were the luncheon guests of Congressman and Mrs. George M. Rhodes in the House restaurant.

Mr. Rhodes was their personal guide and sessions of the House and Senate were attended, as well as visiting a committee room, where they met Senator Sparkman, of Alabama.

Other places of interest visited were: The Bureau of Printing and Engraving, the Lincoln and Jefferson memorial, Pan American Union Building, The FBI, Smithsonian institute, Museum of Natural History, Arlington cemetery, the tomb of the unknown soldier, Washington monument and Mt. Vernon.

ON THEIR journey homeward they stopped at Annapolis, Md. and visited the Naval academy. Mrs. Daniel Maderia and David Kutz accompanied them.

A meeting of the teachers and officers of the Union Sunday school met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Haas. Plans were made to renovate the chapel, and improve the grounds. The Rev. Solly spoke on the daily vacation Bible school.

Altar flowers for St. Paul's Reformed Church Service were placed in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William Levengood by their children: Mrs. Thomas Darrah, Mrs. Charles G. Rhoades and Mrs. Edward Levengood.

The Southern Berks Democratic club will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the Gibraltar fire hall. President of the club is Harvey Rhoads.

CHARGES FILED AGAINST DRIVER

Stowe Police Chief Says Summons to Be Sent To Two Men

Township Police Chief James Guadagno of Stowe said last night he has filed charges against Kenneth Linthicum of 643 Lincoln avenue for operating a car without a license.

Linthicum was involved in an accident when the car he was operating rammed into a traffic light standard at the entrance of the Stanley G. Flagg company on Route 422 early Tuesday morning.

Guadagno reported that Linthicum was driving a car owned by Robert Cave of 301 Vine street, Stowe, at the time of the accident.

In filing charges yesterday with Justice of the Peace Harold S. Rickert of 34 High street, Stowe, Guadagno also charged Linthicum with operating a car without an owner's card in his possession and reckless driving.

Cave was charged with allowing Linthicum to drive without a license.

Rickert said last night that summonses would be sent today to both men.

LEONARD RACHILD, North Charlotte street barber, reads the inscription on a photograph of Admiral Arthur Radford, that Radford sent him recently. The Pottstown man got to know Radford aboard the battleship USS Independence during World War II, and he often cut the admiral's hair. Radford was nominated Tuesday as new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

PTA Names Officers In Union Township

New officers were elected at last night's meeting of the Union township PTA in Monocacy school building.

Named were Stanley Lachowski, president; Mrs. Betty Kissing, vice-president; Paul Hoster, treasurer; Mrs. Esther Heist, secretary; Mrs. LaRue Dietrick, corresponding secretary.

The officers were installed by Mrs. Betty Fehl, Reading Council of PTA.

Guest speaker for the night was Mrs. Marian Osman, executive secretary of the Berks county Civil Defense program, who spoke on the explosion of the atomic bomb, which she witnessed.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Esther Heist, and a report on showers for school was given by Steve Krassowski.

The PTA banner was won by the Fifth grade for having the most parents at the meeting. Mrs. Esther Scheffey sang two solos.

heart explained the procedure followed in such cases.

It takes from one to two minutes to cut through the chest, spread the ribs, and reach the heart.

The ribs are "shingled," folded together like venetian blinds, to permit access to the heart.

The heart is then taken in the whole hand and squeezed "like a rubber ball." It is squeezed to force blood into the aorta, the main artery.

The oxygen carried in the blood is needed especially by two vital spots, one in the brain, one in a heart muscle.

If the heart cannot be taken in the whole hand, two fingers are then slipped under the heart and the thumb is then pressed against it, in and out.

THE DOCTOR has about six minutes from the time the heart stops beating until he must start massaging it if results are to be obtained.

This is the safest figure. There are cases on record when as much as 19 minutes have elapsed but these are rare.

One doctor in New York City's Bellevue hospital has compiled figures on similar arrested-heart cases.

So far, he has data on about 125 cases where the patient lived.

THE IRON LUNG used at Pottstown hospital in a final attempt to save the youth's life is the one purchased in 1939 by the citizens of Pottstown and the area.

The apparatus was purchased when The Mercury conducted a "dime" campaign and collected more than 20,000 of the coins from enthusiastic residents.

The lung has been used in several epidemics in nearby cities and has been credited with the saving of several lives.

At Tarawa, when Rachild was aboard, the Independence was hit by a torpedo from a Japanese airplane. Eighteen men were killed and 17 wounded. The ship was out of commission for six months.

When Admiral Radford was aboard the battleship, it was the flag ship for part of a task force commanded by Admiral William "Bull" Halsey.

Man Freed on Bail In Robbery Charge

Charles Messantonio, Bridgeport, who was arrested in Pottstown the past April 24 on charges of robbing a postal relay station of two government checks, has been released on $1000 bail pending a hearing in Federal court, in Philadelphia on June 8.

The 28-year-old Messantonio was arrested by plainclothesman Lewis M. Borgiet along with Tonette (Tony) Brady, High and Evans streets, after Miss Brady had cashed the checks, made out to local residents, in a Pottstown bank.

The attractive 22-year-old former Southern girl pleaded guilty and was placed on probation for sentatives.

PILOTS DISCOVER DEBRIS ON LAKE

Heavy Fog Prevents
Identification of Wreckage

TRENTON, Ont., May 13 (AP)—Canadian air force pilots sighted wreckage and an oil slick on Lake Ontario today in the hunt for two American airmen lost in one of aviation's weirdest accidents, the destruction of the rocket-powered Bell X-2.

Heavy fog that set in as rescue craft were approaching the scene 30 miles south of Trenton prevented identification of the wreckage and there was no sign of the missing men, test pilot, Jean L. Ziegler, 33, and flight engineer Frank Wolko, 33, both of Buffalo, N. Y.

They fell, jumped or were blasted out of a B-50 bomber, a mother ship to which the experimental speedster was attached, in a mysterious explosion on a test mission at 30,000 feet over the lake last night.

The steel hulled, swept wing X-2, which Bell Aircraft corporation designers hoped would fly 2,000 miles an hour, was blown away over the lake somewhere between Trenton and Rochester, N. Y.

THE MOTHER plane was damaged, but limped about 100 miles back to the Bell plant at the airport of Niagara Falls, N. Y., with seven of the crew. Robert F. Walters, 27, a technician, suffered burns on both arms and an eye injury in the explosion.

A Bell spokesman said it would be unwarranted speculation to say that either Ziegler or Wolko parachuted into the icy lake or that their parachutes did not open. The other crewmen, he added, were too busy to notice.

On such a test mission, he said, there would be a special escape procedure and Ziegler and Wolko might have fallen free for several thousand feet deliberately to avoid the falling X-2. Wolko was in the tail of the B-50 near Walters and Ziegler was in the bomb bay above the suspended X-2 when the blast came.

The X-2, built for the US Air Force, was designed to burn a combination of liquid oxygen, alcohol and water in its Curtiss-Wright rocket engine. It is understood that it had not yet been tested in power flight, but was almost ready for delivery to the Air Force. Like its predecessor, the

BACK TO THE OLD DAYS!—The old style of baby carriage is given a push into new prominence by Mrs. Charles P. Kelly, 769 Queen street. The past Sunday, her husband won widespread favorable comment about it by putting their three-week old daughter, Kathleen, in it and pushing it the 11 blocks from their home to St. Aloysius Catholic church, for the baby's Christening. The baby carriage—which Kelly purchased recently from Borough Fire Chief Richard L. Lindauer, Lindauer got most of them before razing the old Saylor home on High street. The baby liked the old carriage fine. She slept on the entire trip. The father's opinion is less enthusiastic. As an eye-catcher, he admires it. But, he added, "It doesn't push like a new one."

Attorney Readies Divorce For Mrs. Billy Eckstine

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP)—The Times says that attorney Bentley E. Harris is preparing a divorce complaint for filing tomorrow in court on behalf of vocalist composer June Eckstine against singer Billy Eckstine.

It says the complaint will allege cruelty, ask for $1500 a month temporary alimony and $7500 legal fees. She alleges that he earns $150,000 a year.

The Eckstines separated Monday as a final move in a series of rifts that have occurred in the past 18 months.

Russian Newspapers Go Overboard, Publish Parts of Churchill's Speech

MOSCOW, THURSDAY, May 14 (AP)—Pravda and Izvestia devoted nearly a full page today to a summary of Churchill's declaration to the House of Commons: "Strong as is our desire to see a friendly settlement with Soviet Russia, we will not in any way fail in the obligations to the debate on Monday and Tuesday in the House of Commons."

The two papers yesterday carried about a column on the speech in which Churchill called for a meeting on the highest level of the principal powers to seek a settlement of some of the outstanding controversies with the Soviet Union.

They offered no comment, but asked whether the British Government intends to continue a policy of remilitarization and partition in Germany.

Pravda, the newspaper of the Central Committee of the Communist party, and Izvestia, Soviet Government organ, today devoted to Churchill's speech itself about half a page. They carried what appeared to be the text of many of its most important passages.

THE REMAINDER of the page in each paper was taken up with an extensive report on the foreign policy debate in which Clement Attlee, the former prime minister, participated.

This was the most attention given by the Soviet press in many years to a speech by a British Government leader and a debate in the House of Commons.

This fact was taken by observers here to indicate that the Soviet Government considers the Churchill speech to be of the greatest importance. Pravda, Izvestia and other RUSSIA IS PLUGGING for a neutralized Germany, playing upon desires of many Germans on both sides of the Iron Curtain for reunification. Britain and her Allies are committed to give West Germany virtual sovereignty and partnership in Western defense.

Raising of the West German rearmament issue shows plainly that Russia regards it as a considerable obstacle to an overall settlement in Germany and, in fact, to any considerable easing of world tension.

However, it is apparent that the Russians would not regard that issue as a bar to holding Big Power talks. They have said before they have no objection to top level conferences among the major nations and that must certainly be their position after Churchill's remarks.

There is plenty of reason to believe Moscow is interpreting the mixed reception to Churchill's speech as an indication of widening differences among the Western Big Three—the United States, Britain and France.

AREA BUSINESS GAINS REPORTED

College Research Bureau
Says New Highs Set
On Three Items

Pottstown area business showed a gain the past March over the same period last year, it was reported yesterday.

Pennsylvania State College bureau of business research said new highs were reached here for telephones, bank clearings, and motor vehicle sales.

Building operations in the area were the best for any recent year, while postal receipts were the highest since 1950, the bureau revealed.

Industrial power sales were up from the past year, too, the report said.

ACTUAL FIGURES for Pottstown business during the past March are:

Bank clearings, $4449; building operations, $617,325; postal receipts, $28,510; and telephones in service (end of month), 13,426.

New car and truck sales shared by Pottstown with the rest of the county totaled 1733.

Pottstown shared the gain in business with other industrial areas of the state, most of which reported better employment and payrolls than for any similar period since 1951.

Food prices rose 2 percent in March, the bureau noted.

TIDELANDS BILL PLACED BEFORE EISENHOWER

Measure Wins House
Approval by Vote
Of 278 to 116

PASSAGE ENDS 16 YEARS OF LEGISLATIVE BATTLING

WASHINGTON, May 13 (U)—The House put the finishing touch today to a bill establishing State ownership of the submerged coastal lands, then sent it to the White House for an expected presidential signature.

The measure, which is in line with the President's campaign pledge, was passed by a vote of 278 to 116.

It was the climax of a 16-year long legislative battle between some coastal states and the Federal Government for control of the oil-rich lands beneath the marginal seas.

Twice before Congress has passed similar legislation only to have it vetoed by former President Truman.

WHILE ADMINISTRATION officials have expressed varying views on the submerged lands issue, President Eisenhower has openly declared his support of principles embodied in the bill and listed the proposal as a "must" matter for congressional disposition this session.

The bill establishes state rights to coastal lands within historic boundaries. These are generally recognized as extending three miles out to sea in all instances except along the Texas and Florida Gulf coasts. The boundary there is three Spanish leagues, or 10 1/2 miles, because of conditions under which these states entered the Union.

Shortly before passing the states' ownership measure, the House by a vote of 309 to 91 passed a separate bill proclaiming Federal control over the lands on the continental shelf out beyond the States' seaward boundaries and authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to develop the oil, gas and other natural resources in the area.

Geologists have estimated the whole continental shelf contains natural resources worth from 30 to 300 billion dollars.

The second bill now goes to the Senate for action.

Godfrey's Operation Held Off Pending Results of Tests

BOSTON, May 13 (U)—The first operation to correct hip injuries suffered by radio-television star Arthur Godfrey more than 20 years ago will be performed within a few days at Massachusetts General hospital, it was announced tonight.

Dr. Dean A. Clark, general director of the hospital, said in a bulletin that Godfrey, who arrived at the hospital yesterday, is still awaiting "the results of the laboratory investigation and the operation will be undertaken within the next few days."

It is expected that Godfrey will have to undergo at least two operations to correct what the hospital described as a painful condition arising from injuries in an auto-truck crash in 1931 in Washington, D. C.

Interviewed by newsmen earlier in the day, Godfrey said one of his principal concerns is to be able to ride a horse again without suffering intense pain.

"I'd give my life to be able to ride again—you don't know what it is to dig a horse and be in such pain."

QUIPPING ABOUT an electrocardiogram examination, Godfrey said "they are trying to find out if I have a heart."

He said that the liver tests meant nothing to him "as I come from a family of long livers."

Dr. Marius N. Smith-Petersen, Boston surgeon who will perform the operations, said "the purpose is to get relief from the pain in his hips."

AFTER TORNADO STRUCK—This is all that remained of a furniture store, a theater and a business building after a tornado struck Waco, Texas, late May 11. Rescue workers have counted 90 dead and are still digging through the wreckage.

Rescue Workers Toil to Free Bodies From Tornado Ruins

WACO, Tex., May 13 (U)—Tornado wreckage dwindled under the ceaseless toil of men and machines today. Even if it had gone that high today and Waco's death count rose to 98, San Angelo, Tex., still counted nine dead from its tornado.

The diggers said there would be more bodies found in areas still jammed with twisted steel, shattered stone and jagged timbers.

For the first time this shocked city saw sunlight since the black horror of Monday when tornadoes struck here and at San Angelo. Nine were killed at San Angelo for an overall death toll of 107.

Until mid-morning, cold rain slanted down from surly gray clouds hanging almost at rooftop level. Then the clouds parted and a chill wind ceased.

The swollen Brazos river, subsided after falling by two feet to reach a predicted flood crest of 28 feet. Even if it had gone that high today and Waco's death count rose to 98, San Angelo, Tex., still counted nine dead from its tornado.

THE CONFUSED co operation of the first two days efforts to clear wreckage from the city's crushed heart became organized. Mayor Ralph Wolf and City Manager Jack Jeffrey were in command. They split up the damaged area into sectors and assigned groups to work them.

But Mayor Wolf said the business district would remain paralyzed until next Monday at least.

Long before city officials got the search thoroughly organized, willing co operation by

Trapped Colt Dies in Rescue Attempt

NEW MARKET, Tenn., May 13 (U)—A 12-day-old colt died of a broken neck today as rescue workers sought to pull him from a 30-foot cave where he had been trapped for four days.

After three days of vain efforts to reach the animal, a group of farmers finally managed to lower Milum Trent, 110-pound insurance agent from nearby Jefferson City, into the cavern late today.

Trent tied a rope around the colt's neck but the colt, described as "the playfulest little fellow you ever saw," suffered a broken neck and died when the farmers tried to pull him out of the cave.

Trent himself almost suffocated when he was pulled through a narrow opening near the mouth of the cave.

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead, of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction.

And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

REDS TOSS OUT UN PROGRAM ON PRISONER ISSUE

North Korea's Nam Terms
Allied Proposal
'Unacceptable'

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, May 14 (U)—The Communists today rejected the United Nations command counter-proposal for settling the prisoner of war issue blocking a Korean truce.

North Korean General Nam Il, head of the Red truce delegation informed the Allies the proposal was "absolutely unacceptable."

Nam told Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., chief Allied negotiator, that the Communist high command had made a "preliminary study" of the UN proposal and found it "tends to overthrow the basis of negotiations of both sides."

"Your proposal is absolutely unacceptable," he said. "We resolutely reject it."

OUTSIDE THE conference hut, Communist newsmen told Allied correspondents they believed the Communists had dismantled their tent reception area for exchanged war prisoners, used during the recent repatriation of more than 6000 Communist sick and wounded for some 600 disabled Allies.

"That is an answer to your 20-point counter proposal," the Red newsmen said.

The Communists cleared away the reception tents and signs during the night. Only a barren clearing remained at daybreak.

The UN prisoner reception camp still stood—as a monument of "Hope" an Allied spokesman declared.

The Communists had served notice earlier that the exchange of sick and wounded was completed but the Allies had hoped that perhaps more United Nations prisoners would be released.

THE ALLIES proposal unfolded at Panmunjom Wednesday would release any North Korean prisoner unwilling to go back to the Reds, spurned the Communist formula for letting Russian satellites Poland and Czechoslovakia bring in troops to guard such prisoners, and refused to let the prisoners' fate be settled by a post-armistice conference.

The plan, carefully worked out and co-ordinated in Washington, got an icy reception from the Communist side of the table. The Reds said the Allied attitude "threatens the prospects of the whole armistice negotiations."

Egyptian Official Forecasts Uprising If British Fail to Leave Canal Zone

CAIRO, Egypt, May 13 (U)—Egypt charged today that the British have killed seven Egyptians and wounded 24 since March 1 in the most serious violence outbreak in the Suez Canal zone since the 1951-52 battles in that area.

One Egyptian official predicted a popular uprising against British troops unless they pull out of the zone within two or three months, and thus appeared to put a time limit on the satisfaction of Egypt's demands.

The Interior ministry's investigation bureau charged that the incidents since March 1 were "due to the British military's provocative actions." At the same time, a British military spokesman said that on the British side, two had been killed and two wounded since April 1.

These casualties add to the heavy toll of hundreds of Egyptian and British dead and wounded in a series of clashes since October, 1951, when Egypt denounced the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty under which British troops guard the Canal zone. In general, quiet had prevailed since the January, 1952, fire riots in Cairo when King Farouk dismissed the Wardist Government of Mustapha Nahas.

IN LONDON, a rightwing publication, The Recorder, said Wednesday that events in Egypt have brought Britain "nearer to a new war than we have been since the outbreak in Korea." The conservative weekly added that the "position in Egypt is suddenly dangerous."

First disclosure of the renewed violence in the Canal zone was made yesterday in the British House of Commons by Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd. He said there had been 30 attacks on British troops since April 1, adding that Britain had kept quiet about these clashes in an effort to maintain a favorable atmosphere for British-Egyptian negotiations.

Egypt's Chief of Staff, Lt. Col. Gamel Abdel Nasser, predicted the uprising against the British in the Canal zone. Egypt has demanded unconditional evacuation.

The Defense department said the lowered call for July was in line with the reduced military budget announced by the administration for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Secretary of Defense Wilson had said he hoped to reduce draft calls to around 25,000 after July. He explained that this would be possible because there is now a lower rate of turnover in military manpower and because "we are going to try to use more people in the Army now farther up front in combat units."

WILSON HAS maintained that the reduction in draft calls and an overall trimming of military manpower strength will not reduce either the number of men or the number of units engaged in or organized for combat. He had directed that the military manpower cuts be taken in housekeeping, administrative, and supporting activities.

Except for a ten-month period in which the Marine corps received 81,430 men through Selective Service, the Army has been the only force depending upon the draft.

SALES TAX BILL FALLS BEFORE ASSEMBLY BLOC

House GOP Leaders Unable To Muster Votes to Pass Measure

HARRISBURG, May 13 (U)—The House shoved the 1 percent sales tax proposal into the discard today.

The controversial measure was returned to the House Ways and Means committee by a voice vote.

The action came after House Republicans met for 2 1/2 hours behind closed doors and failed to muster the needed 105 votes to pass the levy designed to raise 172 million dollars.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, conceded death of the legislation to newsmen, declaring:

"It's dead now."

But later on the floor of the House he backtracked somewhat and said he was "hopeful and confident" that before the 1953 session adjourned a broad-based tax would be enacted.

BUT THERE was no trace of optimism in his voice as he made the statement. Earlier, Rep. August Metz (R-Pike), a leader of the anti-sales tax bloc, said there was no chance the sales tax would be revived.

The showdown in the Republican caucus ended six weeks of backstage maneuvering to break through the opposition of about a dozen Republicans and all 98 House Democrats.

Johnson said there were no immediate plans to set up a substitute tax program to close a 157 million dollar gap in the Commonwealth's proposed $1-400,000,000 budget for the next biennium starting June 1.

Rep. H. G. Andrews, house Republican leader, jibed at the Republican leadership for failure to produce a tax program so far this session despite the 109 to 98 edge the GOP holds in House membership.

Police Chief Cautions Town Businessmen On Cashing Checks

Boyetown Chief of Police Henry E. Groff yesterday cautioned Boyertown business to be certain of the identity of persons who desire to have checks cashed.

Groff stated yesterday that it has been discovered that a check cashed at D. B. Boyer and company's department store bearing the name of Linwood W. Ott, funeral director at 111 North Reading avenue, Boyertown, was forged by a stranger who entered Boyer's store to make a purchase.

The stranger made purchases totaling approximately $8 and upon making payment for his purchase, presented the clerk with a $55 check and the clerk immediately gave the stranger $50 in change.

The bogus check was discovered to be a phony when it was returned by the National Bank of Boyertown as Ott having no account at that bank.

Chief Groff and the Reading State police are conducting an investigation.

Chief Groff said, "I wish to caution all businessmen to be extremely careful in cashing checks in the future to avoid such occurrences as has happened here."

Colebrookdale PTA Votes to Sponsor Cub Scout Troop Program at Meeting

The Colebrookdale Parent Teacher association voted to sponsor a Cub Scout troop at its regular meeting held in the Colebrookdale school.

Attending the meeting were Ar. Barr, Eli Eisenhart and Frank Moyer, scout executive of Reading, who outlined the Cub Scout program.

It was announced that Robert Grainger had already volunteered as a leader to be assisted by Daniel Stringfellow. All boys between the ages of eight and ten are eligible. It is reported that 21 boys already are prepared to join the new troop.

As sponsor of the troop, the PTA will arrange for a place to conduct the monthly pack meetings and will also endeavor to enroll den mothers to take charge of the weekly meetings.

AS A CONCLUSION to the program, there were several selections played on the accordion by William Smith, Pine Forge.

The annual festival, to be held on the Colebrookdale school grounds on June 5, will be featured with music by the Sunshine Four and Little Lucy. The usual attractions of a fish pond, pony rides, cotton candy, pop corn and french fries will be available along with home-made cakes and coffee. Rain date for the event is June 6.

The annual reports by committee chairmen were heard and Mrs. Walter Erb, ways and means chairman, stated that greeting cards are still available.

Mrs. Gladys Bertram, a past president of the PTA, installed the new officers. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee.

Mrs. George Rahn, president, conducted the meeting.

Opposition Is Listed On Primary Slates For GOP and Demos
The primary election in Boyertown, to be conducted Tuesday with the polls open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., will find one contest to be decided by both the Democratic and Republican parties.

On the Democratic side, the nomination for the office of school director for a six-year period will be waged between the incumbent candidate, Augustus D. Gresh, and newcomer Gerald T. Karver. The winner's name in this election will be placed on the ballot for the general election in November.

Five candidates will be seeking four Republican nominations for the posts of councilmen. They are Russell R. Schaeffer, Harold R. Roth, Murray A. Crull, Isaac Y. Stauffer and Jacques B. Kline. Other candidates on the primary ticket, who do not have opposition next week are: Republicans, for burgess, Lawrence M. Sands; school collector, Earl S. Benfield; school director, Paul W. Landis.

PERIOD OF REMINISCING followed and Mrs. Ivan Houck, Newville, spoke briefly.

Past presidents attending since the class organized with officers in 1945 included Mrs. Helen Dillon, Mrs. Robert Fleming, Mrs. Florence Bush, Mrs. Helen Moll, Mrs. Hilda Frain, Mrs. Vivian Shollenberger, Mrs. Virginia Friz and Mrs. Gaugler.

The Rev. Schneck gave a talk and the group closed the meeting with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

A social hour followed during which refreshment were served.

Pottery Ware on Display

Andrew Berk, former Boyertown resident and now director of the Schwenkfelder library, Pennsburg, announced that an unusually fine collection of pottery is on display at the library during this entire month.

The exhibit features ware from the pottery of John Krauss, 1845, and the famed Stahl Pottery at Powder Valley, Lehigh county.

In addition to the regular week-day hours of 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., the library will be open from 2 to 5 p. m., on Sunday, May 17 and again on Sunday, May 31.

Auxiliary to Hold Social

A covered dish social will follow tonight's meeting at 8 o'clock of the Keystone Fire company ladies' auxiliary, Boyertown, to be held in the company lodge hall.

Mrs. Bertha Smith, president, will preside.

Pathologists Refute Testimony by Girl

PITTSBURGH, May 13 (AP)—Pathologists in the coroner's office said today Britton Johnson, 50, died of bronchial pneumonia despite a teen-aged girl's statement that she and a boy friend killed him.

Johnson was found dead in a Pittsburgh hotel room in December. His body was exhumed yesterday after the Youngstown teenager told police she lured Johnson to the hotel and with the help of Charles Williams of Pittsburgh beat and strangled him.

Detective Chief Fred Mathias said he will consult the county law department before taking legal action against the teen-ager and Williams. Both are in jail.

Blind Artist to Sing In Eagles Auditorium

Catherine Deraco, widely acclaimed blind soprano, will sing at a Blind Artists' concert in the Eagles' home auditorium, 310 High street, on June 8 at 8:30 p. m.

The young Italian-born singer was discovered five years ago by Luigi Boccelli, founder and director of Blind Artists' Concerts, a Philadelphia agency for sightless but talented musicians.

A former resident of Lebanon, Miss Deraco attended the Overbrook School for the Blind and the Lebanon Valley College Conservatory, where she studied voice, piano and organ.

After graduation from the conservatory, she studied under teachers in New York and Philadelphia and appeared on radio and television.

In Philadelphia she appeared in her own solo recital, after which critics predicted a promising future for her.

She made her debut at New York's Carnegie hall the past Spring.

Dorothy Moyer Wins Musical Quiz Contest At Grange Meeting

Mrs. Dorothy Moyer emerged the winner of a musical quiz conducted by Mrs. Nora Romich at the meeting of New Hanover Community Grange last night.

Tagged "Music and Daily Life," the contest consisted of ten piano selections by Mrs. Romich, who had members attempt to guess the type of music being played.

Three members tied at eight correct guesses out of the possible ten, and Mrs. Moyer won in the final elimination.

Talks on Grange kitchens and a plant sale to members completed the program.

TWO NEW MEMBERS, Mrs. Mary Heintz and Mrs. Emily Peterman, were received during the meeting, which was presided over by Overseer George Nester in the absence of the master. Twenty-six members attended.

Peron's Officers Must Reveal All Holdings

BUENOS AIRES, May 13 (AP)—Gen. Franklin Lucero, Argentine army minister, said today officers of the rank of colonel and above must file sealed statements of their property, in compliance with a recent decree by President Peron.

Peron said both civilian and military officials must file sworn statements of their holdings. He said the statements will be kept sealed unless the officials come under suspicion of irregularities in the performance of their duties.

The move was part of a current drive growing out of reports of graft in the government.

Church Class Plans New York Trip

Busy Bee class of Royersford man; Mrs. Katherine Watts, Mrs. First Evangelical and Reformed church met in the church social hall Tuesday night.

Reports of various project chairmen were given following a short devotional service, led by Mrs. H. H. Hartman, teacher.

It was announced a profit of $34.78 was realized from a recent pie bake, which took place in the newly renovated kitchen of the church. Another bake was planned for the first week in June. This project is under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Hessler and Mrs. Sara Fry.

Mrs. Ida Bertz, chairman, reported on a bus trip to New York to be taken Saturday. Sponsored by the class, the trip will be made by members of the Busy Bee's and their friends.

Birthday congratulations were sung to Mrs. Bertz, after which Mrs. Benjamin Fry, vice-president in charge of the meeting, announced the following would compose the committee in charge of the June birthday party.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Pearl Stauffer, chairman; Mrs. Dora Kirk, Mrs. Kit Bennett, Mrs. Bertie Ortolani and Mrs. Evelyn Kline.

Man Admitted to Hospital After Fall From Crane

David Hottrick, Fourth avenue and Main street, Royersford, was admitted to Pottstown hospital yesterday afternoon, after he was injured in a fall at Cann and Saul Steel company, Royersford.

His injuries included a fracture of four ribs. An X-ray examination was made to ascertain whether or not he suffered additional injuries to his lower spine and elbow.

Dr. J. J. Maron was summoned and ordered him to the hospital after treating him on the scene. He was taken to the hospital in Friendship Community ambulance. It was reported the man fell nine feet off a crane.

Police Chief Cautions Town Businessmen On Cashing Checks

Boyetown Chief of Police Henry E. Groff yesterday cautioned Boyertown business to be certain of the identity of persons who desire to have checks cashed.

Groff stated yesterday that it has been discovered that a check cashed at D. B. Boyer and company's department store bearing the name of Linwood W. Ott, funeral director at 111 North Reading avenue, Boyertown, was forged by a stranger who entered Boyer's store to make a purchase.

The stranger made purchases totaling approximately $8 and upon making payment for his purchase, presented the clerk with a $58 check and the clerk immediately gave the stranger $50 in change.

The bogus check was discovered to be a phony when it was returned by the National Bank of Boyertown as Ott having no account at that bank.

Chief Groff and the Reading State police are conducting an investigation.

Chief Groff said, "I wish to caution all businessmen to be extremely careful in cashing checks in the future to avoid such occurrences as has happened here."

Colebrookdale PTA Votes to Sponsor Cub Scout Troop Program at Meeting

The Colebrookdale Parent-Teacher Association, there were several selections played on the accordion by a Cub Scout troop at its regular meeting held in the Colebrookdale school.

Attending the meeting were Ar. Barr, Eli Eisenhart and Frank Moyer, scout executive of Reading, who outlined the Cub Scout program.

It was announced that Robert Grainger had already volunteered as a leader to be assisted by Daniel Stringfellow. All boys between the ages of eight and ten are eligible. It is reported that 21 boys already are prepared to join the new troop.

As sponsor of the troop, the PTA will arrange for a place to conduct the monthly pack meetings and will also endeavor to enroll den mothers to take charge of the weekly meetings.

FIRST BAPTIST HOLDS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Two Men Selected to Serve Four-Year Terms on Governing Board

Officers were elected for terms of from one to four years at the annual business meeting of First Baptist church in the church social room last night.

Two men were elected to four-year terms on the governing boards of the church — William R. Shutt to the board of deacons, which looks after spiritual welfare and George W. Mohn to the board of trustees, which handles the business affairs.

Another officer, S. Ernest Kulp, was elected to the trustee board for a two year term.

Three men were elected to the board of Christian education for terms of three years. They were Maurice Borneman, Leon Hausman and Robert Jones.

Dorothy Moyer Wins Musical Quiz Contest At Grange Meeting

Mrs. Dorothy Moyer emerged the winner of a musical quiz conducted by Mrs. Nora Romich at the meeting of New Hanover Community Grange last night.

Tagged "Music and Daily Life," the contest consisted of ten piano selections by Mrs. Romich, who had members attempt to guess the type of music being played.

Three members tied at eight correct guesses out of the possible ten, and Mrs. Moyer won in the final elimination.

Talks on Grange kitchens and a plant sale to members completed the program.

TWO NEW MEMBERS, Mrs. Mary Heintz and Mrs. Emily Peterman, were received during the meeting, which was presided over by Overseer George Nester in the absence of the master. Twenty-six members attended.

Members of Keystone Grange, Trappe, will present a program at Community's next meeting.

Brotherhood to Hear Rev. Cooper Speak

Ray Ritter, president of the Churchmen's Brotherhood of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, Boyertown, announced that the Rev. Edgar M. Cooper, pastor of the Faulkner-Swamp Lutheran church, will be the guest speaker at Monday night's meeting of the group at 8 o'clock, in the church.

Ritter also appointed the following committees: devotions, Howard A. G. Miller, Clyde B. Angstadt; nominating, Howard A. G. Miller, Ralph Shollenberger, John Rose; evangelism, Clyde R. Wert, Ralph Shollenberger, Donald Shanely, Elwood R. Fox and Frederick Endy.

A social hour will follow the meeting and refreshments will be served.

60 Attend Reunion Of Mother's Class At Reformed Church

The first reunion of the Mother's Class of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed, Boyertown, was attended by 60 members and former members of the class.

Following the opening hymn, Mrs. Mervin Gaugler, class president, read the Scriptures and the Rev. Harper L. Schneck, pastor, offered a prayer. Mrs. Edith Reiff, class teacher, gave an address of welcome.

The evening's guest speaker was Mrs. Edward L. Schillingman, wife of the Rev. Edward L. Schillingman, who was the pastor prior to the Rev. Schneck.

Mrs. Paul Hangen, wife of the former instrumental music supervisor in the Boyertown schools and now a resident of Baltimore, played a piano solo.

Opposition Is Listed On Primary Slates For GOP and Demos

The primary election in Boyertown, to be conducted Tuesday with the polls open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., will find one contest to be decided by both the Democratic and Republican parties.

On the Democratic side, the nomination for the office of school director for a six-year period will be waged between the incumbent candidate, Augustus D. Gresh, and newcomer Gerald T. Karver. The winner's name in this election will be placed on the ballot for the general election in November.

Five candidates will be seeking four Republican nominations for the posts of councilmen. They are Russell R. Schaeffer, Harold R. Roth, Murray A. Crull, Isaac Y. Stauffer and Jacques B. Kline. Other candidates on the primary ticket, who do not have opposition next week are: Republicans, for burgess, Lawrence M. Sands; tax collector, Earl S. Benfield; school director, Paul W. Landis.

Democrats, for burgess, James A. Fritz, incumbent; tax collector, Paul R. Keyser, incumbent; councilmen, J. Clifford Levensgood, George Y. Schoenly, Charles M. Edinger, incumbents and newcomers, S. Wilson Hillpot; and auditor, John Moser.

Blind Artist to Sing In Eagles Auditorium

Catherine Deraco, widely acclaimed blind soprano, will sing at a Blind Artists' concert in the Eagles' home auditorium, 310 High street, on June 8 at 8:30 p. m.

The young Italian-born singer was discovered five years ago by Luigi Bocelli, founder and director of Blind Artists' Concerts, a Philadelphia agency for sightless but talented musicians.

A former resident of Lebanon, Miss Deraco attended the Overbrook School for the Blind and the Lebanon Valley College Conservatory, where she studied voice, piano and organ.

After graduation from the conservatory, she studied under teachers in New York and Philadelphia and appeared on radio and television.

In Philadelphia she appeared in her own solo recital, after which critics predicted a promising future for her.

She made her debut at New York's Carnegie hall the past week.

Reds Hint Recasting Of UN Korean Aid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—Russia hinted in the UN today that she will call for a complete recasting of the UN civilian reconstruction program in Korea if there is an armistice.

M. A. Zonov, Soviet delegate in the Social commission, opposed including in a world social welfare program drafted by the UN any references to future UN aid for helping Korea restore education, industry, housing, agriculture and other social services.

The program was to be carried out by the UN Korean reconstruction agency, (UNKRA) which has been doing a limited job in South Korea. The UN assembly two years ago approved a 250 million dollar program as a starter on Korean rebuilding.

Reformed Church to Hold Ascension Day Service

An Ascension Day service, the day of "Prayer for Missions," will be conducted tonight at 8 o'clock in the chapel of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed, Boyertown.

The theme is, "The City of Our God," written and prepared by Ruth Landis, Boyertown, and the speaker will be the pastor, Rev. Harper L. Schneck.

The missionary department of the Women's Guild will be in charge of the program.

Pottery Ware on Display

A PERIOD of reminiscing followed and Mrs. Ivan Houck, Newville, spoke briefly.

Past presidents attending since the class organized with officers in 1945 included Mrs. Helen Dillon, Mrs. Robert Fleming, Mrs. Florence Bush, Mrs. Helen Moll, Mrs. Hilda Frain, Mrs. Vivian Shollenberger, Mrs. Virginia Friz and Mrs. Gaugler.

The Rev. Schneck gave a talk and the group closed the meeting with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

A social hour followed during which refreshment were served.

150 Persons Attend Welfare Discussions At Ursinus College

Approximately 150 persons attended the annual meeting and panel discussion of the Montgomery county Health and Welfare council at Ursinus college yesterday afternoon.

Participating in one of the panels dealing with the recreational aspects of the aged was Robert A. Reis, Pottstown recreational director.

He said following the business meeting at about 5 o'clock, those attending were invited to attend four panel discussions, covering mental treatment for the aged, home care, home for the aged and recreational aspects.

Following the discussions, a comedy skit on social work was held during the dinner.

Among the Pottstonians present were: Vincent Fisher, executive director of the United Fund; Leona Smith of the Visiting Nurses association, and Mrs. George Weber, president of the board of directors at the YWCA.

REDS FACE HOWITZERS—Communist fortification in Korea are looking down the wrong end of mammoth 240-millimeter howitzers similar to the one (above) used in Italy in 1944. The Army has announced that the big gun, capable of hurling a 360 pound shell about fifteen miles, is now in use on the Korean front. It is second in size to the atomic cannon.

Fire Company Auxiliary To Hold Meeting Tonight

The Gilbertsville Fire company Ladies' auxiliary will conduct its postponed meeting from last week, tonight at 8 o'clock in the Gilbertsville Fire hall. The meeting the past week was postponed because of the fashion show and the regular business session will be held tonight.

Any members desiring to have their children take part in a Mother's Day program, are requested to bring their children to tonight's meeting.

No social hour will follow the meeting but members instead will patronize the company's side room.

Auxiliary to Hold Social

A covered dish social will follow tonight's meeting at 8 o'clock of the Keystone Fire company Ladies' auxiliary, Boyertown, to be held in the company lodge hall.

Mrs. Bertha Smith, president, will preside.

Pathologists Refute Testimony by Girl

PITTSBURGH, May 13 (AP)—Pathologists in the coroner's office said today Britton Johnson, 30, died of bronchial pneumonia despite a teen-aged girl's statement that she and a boy friend killed him.

Johnson was found dead in a Pittsburgh hotel room in December. His body was exhumed yesterday after the Youngstown teenager told police she lured Johnson to the hotel and with the help of Charles Williams of Pittsburgh beat and strangled him.

Detective Chief Fred Mathias said he will consult the county law department before taking legal action against the teen-ager and Williams. Both are in jail.

Chairman Announces New Library Hours

Ruth Anne Steinmuller, chairman of the public library located in the Community center, 314 West Philadelphia avenue, Boyertown, announced that beginning June 1, new library hours will be in effect.

The new hours will be Monday and Wednesday, 2 to 5 p. m.; Tuesday and Friday, 7 to 9 p. m.; and Saturday, 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Members of the sponsoring Junior Woman's Club of Boyertown, who are on library duty tomorrow night are Mrs. Ronald Acker and Mrs. H. Douglas Rose.

Church to Hold Service

An Ascension Day program will be held tonight at Hill Church at 7:30 o'clock. The program is being sponsored by the Women's Guild of the congregation and everyone is invited to attend.

Church Class Plans New York Trip

Busy Bee class of Royersford man: Mrs. Katherine Watts, Mrs. First Evangelical and Reformed church met in the church social hall Tuesday night.

Reports of various project chairmen were given following a short devotional service, led by Mrs. H. Hartman, teacher.

It was announced a profit of $34.78 was realized from a recent pie bake, which took place in the newly renovated kitchen of the church. Another bake was planned for the first week in June.

This project is under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Hessler and Mrs. Sara Fry.

Mrs. Ida Bertz, chairman, reported on a bus trip to New York to be taken Saturday. Sponsored by the class, the trip will be made by members of the Busy Bee's and their friends.

Birthday congratulations were sung to Mrs. Bertz, after which Mrs. Benjamin Fry, vice-president, in charge of the meeting, announced the following would compose the committee in charge of the June birthday party.

Man Admitted to Hospital After Fall From Crane

David Hettrick, Fourth avenue and Main street, Royersford, was admitted to Pottstown hospital yesterday afternoon, after he was injured in a fall at Cann and Saul Steel company, Royersford.

His injuries included a fracture of four ribs. An X-ray examination was made to ascertain whether or not he suffered additional injuries to his lower spine and elbow.

Dr. J. J. Maron was summoned and ordered him to the hospital after treating him on the scene. He was taken to the hospital in Friendship Community ambulance. It was reported the man fell nine feet off a crane.

Softball League to Meet

A meeting to arrange plans for Twin-Boro Community Softball league will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Royersford High school.

Robert McNelly, director, requested all Royersford and Spring City softball teams to have representatives present at the meeting.

FISHY FLORA — Imitation flowers worn by Carol Dillon at Cape Hatteras, N. C., are unusual in that they are made from scales of channel bass caught in Hatteras surf.

Woman's Club to Install New Officers at Meeting

New officers will be installed at the next meeting of Woman's Club of Royersford, Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Reformed church social hall.

The officers will be seated by Mrs. George Miller, president of Montgomery county federation. Committee chairmen will present their annual reports during the business session, after which the program, "Home Spun Omnibus," will be presented by a group of local club women.

Mrs. Carl B. Merz, outgoing president, reported the following committees met during the past week: Auditing, Mrs. Wesley Diemer, Mrs. Irvin Walker and Mrs. Milton Green; budget, Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Russell Bennett, Mrs. William Harbison and Mrs. Merz.

Lower Pottsgrove May Queen Marlene Watches Pupils' Dance Numbers

Surrounded by her Summer-clad court, Marlene Davidheiser last night was crowned Queen of the May at a ceremony in Lower Pottsgrove school.

Maid of honor was Judith Meloy and attendants included Alma Miller, Tanya Zadojko, Virginia Schultz and Beverly Swavely.

To entertain Spring's royal court, children of the school presented a program of dances.

First grades A, B and C frolicked in the American dance "Now Wind the Maypole."

Next, Fifth graders "Dipped for the Oyster" in traditional American square dance formation.

"I'm a Little Tea Pot" titled the number enacted by Second grade children, who imitated the beverage container to music.

Prancing in feathers and paint were the children from the three, Third grades, who performed an American Indian dance.

Grade 4 pupils of A, B and C sections danced the bunny hop.

Imitation caliope music brought to the stage the Sixth grade boys who entertained with "Circus Days." Their animal imitations included representations of horses, elephants, monkeys and clowns.

Chiming the performance Brown, Eleanor Carroll arranged for the programs.

Director of the entertainment was Helen F. Bartman, music supervisor of the school.

Queen Marlene was dressed to receive her white flower crown in a ballerina gown of bouffant tulle. Her shoulders, above the strapless bodice, were covered with a stole of lace.

About her neck, the dark haired ruler clasped a single strand of pearls and, like her attendants, she carried an arm bouquet of mixed Spring flowers.

Members of the court wore identical puffed sleeve frocks with long, daisy-festooned skirts and square berthas.

The honor maid wore a formal with an illusion neckline, and a wide sash.

After the presentation of awards and announcements, the recessional was performed by the entire student body.

In charge of decorations for the May Day festival was Pearl Brown. Eleanor Carroll arranged for the programs.

Ursinus Woman's Club to Follow Up Tour of Montgomery County Historical Homes With a Tea Saturday Afternoon at Oak Knoll

Montgomery county's historical houses will be toured by the Ursinus Women's club Saturday, 2 to 5 p. m.

Tea will be served at Oak Knoll, Old Arch road, Germantown pike, and Township line. The Rev. Dr. James Niblo is the owner of the home.

Other homes that will be visited are: Embiem house, Pennsylvania avenue, between Fort Washington and Oreland. It was built in 1720 and is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Radeliffe Cheston Jr.

Hope Lodge, Bethlehem pike, White Marsh, was built in 1723 by Samuel Morris. Mrs. William Degu was the former owner of the home and when she died February, 1953, she willed it to trustees.

Highlands is located on Sheaff road on Skippack pike, Davesfield on Skippack pike and Morris road; Langfield Farms, Skippack pike and Butler pike.

Aradia Farms at Cedars, Waltz Farm, Limerick, Frody House, Church and Wartman roads.

The tea then will be held at Oak Knoll and the group will go on to Super House, Main street, Collegeville. Owners of the home are Dr. and Mrs. Donald Halferich.

General chairman for the affairs is Mrs. Richard Ballantyne. Working with her are Mrs. Henry Henzell, Edwardine Tyson and Mrs. John Davidson.

Arranging the tea will be Mrs.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Nancy Saltzer Pulls Surprise at Shower

Honor guest Nancy Saltzer turned the tables and surprised her hostesses at the shower held for her Tuesday evening in the home of Grace Yergey, 429 Lincoln avenue.

Miss Yergey, and her co-hostess, Betty Sidun, had hoped to assemble the guests in the house and then lure Miss Saltzer on a trumped-up errand.

Why Nancy, however, outfoxed them all and was the first to arrive.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Saltzer, she will become the bride of Neil Steinbraker on May 23.

Gifts were stacked beneath a ruffled umbrella of white and silver, tied with white streamers.

As the bride-elect untied her first present, she knotted its cord to her engagement ring to form the center of a ball wound from the ribbons removed from other gifts, all knotted together.

After the gifts were opened, the ball was passed from guest to guest, with each chinging tightly to her portion of the string as it unwound. For each knot a recipient grasped, tradition tells, she will have a child.

The last girl to receive a portion of ribbon, with the ring tied to it, is destined to become the next bride.

When the ball was all unwound, the ribbons were plaited to form a fat whip for use in case Miss Saltzer's husband-to-be ever get out of line after the wedding.

Attending were: Mrs. Earl Saltzer, Peggy Kaas, Frances Pietropolo, Dolores Piroshak, Bernice Piroshak, Betty Werstler, Mazie Stoniser and Mrs. Henry Arndt.

Dorothy Schwenk, Pauline Yanacha, Mrs. George Powell, Mrs. Earl Mock, Mrs. Robert Renninger, Mrs. Ellis Strange, Mary Yergey and Tango Yergey.

Mrs. Michael Bilyk sent a gift.

Young Models Display Kiddies' Styles for Pine Forge May Day

By HELEN SAMMET
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Looking fresh and crisp in their home-made frocks, pupils and pre-schoolers of Pine Forge elementary school modeled at a fashion show for last night's May Day festivities.

Despite sticky weather, the children, with a few exceptions went on with the show as planned.

Entering with her court to "pomp and circumstance" march, May Queen Spiezio, in a white sleeveless gown with a round neckline, lead the procession to the front of the room. She carried a bouquet of Spring flowers. Her maids and flower girls were dressed in rose, yellow, lavender, and aqua, with round and ruffled necklines.

Bows adorned the heads of the flower girls, while wreaths were worn by the maids. All had bracelets of flowers.

Girls were Ruth Ann Rhoads, Judy Benfield, Shirley Kay Levengood, Anna Yost, Bonnie Hall, Joan Henson and Jane Weiss.

A mock wedding couple of pre-school age, Larry Egolf and Christine Bowers, participated in the procession.

The bride wore a white ruffled dress, and a bow in long red yellow curls.

Worn by the groom were white shorts and a semi-formal black dinner jacket with a black bow tie.

First model in the fashion show was Mary Jane Bowers, the youngest, dressed in a white pique pinafore with hat and panties to match. Her mother assisted her on and off the stage.

Twin sister pinafores were worn by Mary Kathrine and Ruth Levengood. They were of woven white checked material.

Betty Jane Henson wore a two-piece sunsuit, with a pink top and checked shorts.

A print chintz dress was modeled by Joan Kappenstein.

Modeled by Johnnie Ankner were a beach coat and shorts.

Eddie Buch, in blue jeans and a colored shirt, sang "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

A father-son outfit was modeled by Bill and Billy Salonic. It consisted of a tan sports jackets and brown slacks.

Four-year-old Connie Sites brought her doll dressed in the same blue dotted swiss she wore to the show with her.

Georgetta and Connie Rush wore red dresses with white trimming.

Gladys and Marilyn Weaver, the colors reversed. One was gray with pink trimmings and the other pink with gray trimmings.

Wearing a blue suit dress with a cape was Dianne Schaeffer.

Helen Dusko wore a two-piece suit in royal blue.

Modeled by Shirley Rhoads was a three piece outfit. Skirt and blouse were red and white checked while the bolero was solid red.

Closing the program was Eddie Schaeffer in blue pajamas with a striped robe, holding a candle.

Others in the show included: Carole Henson, Connie Rupert, Barbara Trace, Rose Leinbach, Johnnie Weiss, Linda Bowley, Cherylene Trace, Donna Gaugler and Carole Dengler.

Lynn Adele Melinger, Cathy O'Neil, Patty Ann Rhoads, Shirley Nielson, Sandra Salonic, Ruth Wentzel.

Stage decorations were baskets of spring flowers. In charge of decorations was Mrs. Wilbert Baker.

Mrs. Robert Weiss was in charge of the program and was the commentator.

Publicity director was Mrs. Frank Ankner.

Accompanied for the show was Mrs. John Fillman Jr.

ACCUSED FOUR REMAIN IN JAIL

Quartet Held on Shoplifting
Charge Await Court
Action on Bail

Four defendants who were locked up in the county prison at Norristown Tuesday for alleged shoplifting activities in three Pottstown stores were still in jail last night without bail.

Seventh Ward Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley, who ordered the foursome held for court without bail Tuesday morning, said he filed the case yesterday and to his knowledge the defendants had not been released.

"Their attorney will have to go before the court before bail can be fixed," Kelley said. After the bail is set, and the four have enough money, their lawyer can work for their release, he added.

The four, Howard Baker, 26, and Dorothy, 25, his wife; Lester Nelson, 30, and Lillian Johnson, 24, are all of Philadelphia.

They were given hearings in borough hall on charges of conspiring to commit burglary and larceny, burglary and larceny, and receiving stolen goods.

Child's Tears Reveal Suicide of Father

WILSON, N. C., May 13 (AP)—A motorist traveling a rural road near here yesterday passed a parked automobile containing only a small girl. The child was crying.

The motorist backed up and asked the child what was wrong.

"Daddy went in there and shot himself," the five-year-old replied, indicating nearby woods with a tear-moistened finger.

The motorist entered the woods and found the warm body of William A. Barnes, 27. A shotgun charge had killed him. The gun lay beside him.

Coroner R. E. Goudy signed a certificate of death by suicide.

CAR KILLS BOY

ALTOONA, May 13 (AP)—An auto backing out of a garage killed three-year-old David M. Ludwig of Johnstown today as he played in an alley near the home of his grandparents.

Pennsylvania Correspondents Spoof Almost Everybody at Annual Dinner

HARRISBURG, May 13 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' association spoofed Republicans and Democrats alike tonight at its 29th biennial dinner and gridiron show.

The association, oldest of its kind in the nation, kidded Gov. John S. Fine and the sales tax, Francis J. Chesterman and economy and Republican and Democratic leaders of both House and Senate.

Lt. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, famed for his "nuts" phrase in refusing to surrender to the Nazis at Bastogne in World War II, was the guest speaker. He gave an off-the-record talk on America's defense plans.

Gen. McAuliffe is now the Army's deputy chief of staff for operations and administration.

Both of Pennsylvania's US Senators—Edward Martin and James Duff—were guests of the association and came in for their share of merry-making jibes.

spoofing to a parody sung to the tune of "sound off," marching song of Gen. McAuliffe's former 101st Airborne division. It went this way:
The Senators sang:

WHAT A HASSLE! What a mess! Where's the answer's, what's your guess?

Is it no or is it yes? Won't somebody tell the press?

The chorus joined in with: "Chesterman . . . Chesterman . . . Chesterman . . ."

Say's he's gonna talk and do it today!

Chesterman, portrayed by an actor, sings:

I'm the man they want to see I'm the man of mystery Dig all that publicity Thanks to John F-I-N-E

The chorus joined in with: "Chesterman . . . Chesterman . . . Chesterman . . ."

Savior of the Commonwealth, but not . . . today!

ONE OF THE FEATURED skits panned the Pennsylvania Turnpike commission.

It depicted a symphony orchestra ready to play the "Turnpike Fantastique."

But instead of music coming forth at the downbeat, the sound effects man gave out with ear-rending noises of sirens and an automobile wreck. In the background, a sign blinked, "world's safest highway."

The Chesterman committee came in for some good-natured

STATE GETS BID

HARRISBURG, May 13 (AP)—An unofficial low bid of $12,950 for laundry equipment at the Somerset State hospital, Somerset, was received today by the General State authority.

By shipping grain through Churchill, a port on Hudson Bay, Canada can cut about 1000 miles off the distance traveled by the grain going to North European ports.

Highway Department's Bashore Speaks Before Woman's Club Meeting

Dr. Andrew Bashore, State Highway Department counselor, was guest speaker at the women's club of Pottstown's Tuesday meeting in Library hall.

He addressed the group on today's problems of raising children, charging women to take a more active part in providing the media of entertainment for youngsters.

Dr. Bashore told of overcoming the many hardships which faced him as a crippled youth with no parents.

Through "determination and faith" he said, "much can be accomplished."

He stated, "the clouds of dependency many times are the rains that are needed to refresh you."

Concluding, Dr. Bashore said, "Any country that would give a poor crippled kid a chance to pull himself up by his own bootstraps is a country worth saving."

The Rev. John B. Franz, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, sang several numbers accompanied at the piano by Norman Lepore.

Mrs. A. Erwin Colver read several acknowledgments of gifts and contributions. She also reported on the progress of the club scholarship fund.

Mrs. Lloyd Kohler read several invitations to other club affairs received by the organization.

Mrs. John Kindervater, leader for the evening, introduced the guest speaker.

Closing meeting of the season will be a dinner at Brookside country club, where installation of new officers will take place.

Mrs. John B. DeVincentis

will speak on "Mothers Anthology."

A report on the meeting of the State Federation of Women's clubs in Pittsburgh will be given by Mrs. Kenneth Fillman and Mrs. Ephraim Keller, incoming president and vice-president, respectively.

Trinity EC Young People's Group Holds Program to Honor Mothers of Members

Young People's Missionary society, Trinity EC church, featured a Mother's Day program for its Tuesday meeting.

Devotional period consisted of scripture readings by Dale Kranch.

Paul and Billy Feight read poems on Mother's Day, followed by Ronald Rohland's trumpet solo. "My Mother's Bible" was sung by six girls.

Jimmy Eshbach reviewed an article, "What I Saw in China," by Alice M. Higgins. It was a report dealing with the work of the Communists among the youth groups in China.

At the business meeting it was decided that LaRue Frymoyer and Judith Feight will represent the group at the missionary convention of Evangelical Congregational churches in Manheim May 19, 20 and 21.

Welcome to the organization was Lowell Stevens.

League of Women Voters Hears a Report On How Pottstown's Zoning Operates

Pottstown's provisional League of Women Voters Tuesday heard the final reports in the "Know Your Town" survey — one on political groups and elections, another describing borough planning and zoning.

Mrs. Merrill Crouthamel, treasurer of the league, outlined the formation of Pottstown's zoning commission in 1945 and traced its history to the present time.

TIME STANDS STILL FOR GENE SARAZEN

Time waits for no one, but Gene Sarazen apparently has blasted so much sand into the clock that for him the hour hand spins slower than for almost any other athlete alive.

It was hard to imagine that the demonstrator at Brookside Country club was winning national and world championships more than three decades ago. The parents of most of the young spectators from the Hill school were teen-agers when Gene was reaching his early prime.

The rhythm and power in Sarazen's stocky body gave the impression of youth. Although he is past 50 years of age, everyone was muttering in wonderment, "He looks good enough beat anybody." His age is well hidden beneath the friendly, swarthy features of his round face.

If Gene Sarazen left the impression of being "young" for his age, then we know he went away happy. He thinks, acts and plays like a young man and his interest in youth was evident. To his wife, who walked and chatted with the gallery of Hill boys, Sarazen was heard to say, "Isn't it wonderful - all these young people interested in golf."

WHEN SARAZEN was 18 years old he said he couldn't break 85 on the golf course. Two years later he was winning world championships. Hard work, concentration and a sincere love of the game catapulted Sarazen's name to the heights along side Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Ernest Holderness and other great linksmen of the '20s.

In 1922 Gene won both the US Open and the PGA championships. The following year he repeated as the PGA titleholder. A decade later he again won a pair of major crowns, the US Open and the British open both in 1932.

George Dunlap, 34, one of Sarazen's young opponents Tuesday afternoon in the nine-hole exhibition, is the son of George Dunlap, Jr., National Amateur champion in 1933. That same year, Sarazen won his third PGA championship.

During his driving demonstration, Gene spoke fondly of his No. 4 wood:

"This is the club I used to score a double eagle at Augusta - it's almost as old as I am."

Three strokes behind the leader and with only three holes to play in the 1935 Master's tournament at Augusta, Ga., Sarazen held his second shot on the par five, 460 yard 16th. He went on to add the tourney crown to the long list of others he has won over his 34 years of tournament golf.

DURING HIS LECTURE he stressed rhythm and the position of the hands as the two most important phases of championship golf. Although he uses an interlocking grip because of his stubby fingers, he strongly recommends the overlapping grip as the best.

"The big weakness in today's younger golfers appears to be their lack of rhythm. At Cornell university they teach golf to music and the results have been outstanding," he said.

Sarazen has patented a 22 ounce practice driver which he demonstrated. The added weight in this club "grooves" the swing, naturally throwing the body and arms into the proper rhythm.

Understatement of the day was made by Sarazen in reference to his driving prowess. He asked Steve Grady, Brookside's professional how far out the ball chasers were standing. Steve told him about 235 to 240, to which Gene estimated, "too far for me."

Then he promptly drilled a dozen or so drives fully 10 to 20 yards past the retrievers.

The most modest remark of the day was made by Finley McRae, Dunlap's partner against the Sarazen-Grady team.

"He sure does get everything out of his club, doesn't he," drawled the Mobile, Ala., youth as he watched Sarazen loft a seven iron onto the seventh green.

NOBODY would dispute McRae's observation, but to us his own trick of outdriving Sarazen by several yards on the fourth hole was something to write about to the folks in Mobile. Weighing only 145 pounds, the blond youth has the form of a champion. The consistency only experience can give should send him to stardom.

Dunlap, although not the stylist that his teammate is, displayed the determination and savvy that could lead him along the trail of his famous father. The senior Dunlap won the National Intercollegiate golfing title two years running while at Princeton. Both George and Fin plan to attend Old Nassau after being graduated from The Hill.

Sarazen and Grady, almost machines of perfection, had to settle for a tie in their match as the Hill youths exploded for birdies on two occasions. It was a cheap afternoon of top-flight golfing instruction, and the duffer who watched the player's hands, body and feet, instead of the ball, will be a few strokes wiser by season's end.

The one shot that stood out above all the others Sarazen made was on Brookside's tough fifth hole. His first shot was up along the clubhouse where everybody tries to go, but few succeed.

PROBABLY MORE HOOKS, slices, grounders and other poor hits occur at this point as the lane of trees seems six feet wide. Sarazen walloped a long brassie shot that went straight as an arrow down the middle of the path and then at the bend, the ball leaned to the left and landed center fairway about 35 yards short of the pin.

"That was the shot I was waiting to see," said Francis Armstrong, Hill school's golfing coach.

Sarazen's son, Gene, Jr., is attending the Hill school and let's hope that will bring the 1953 Senior's tournament champ back to Brookside again soon. His next tournament appearance will be in the U.S. Open and we'll wager that a check at the final standing will find the knickered all-time great out in front plenty of fellows 20 years younger.

UPPER PERK POWER DEPARTMENT—Primed and ready for today's crucial battle with Boyertown for the Perk league championship are Upper Perk's slugging infielders (left to right) Len Miklosovic, Terry Feltman and Denny Roth. The game is being played at East Greenville, home of Upper Perk's Perkiomen High school. Both teams have lost one league game.

Boyertown, Upper Perk Decide League Title Today

The money game of the Perkiomen-Schuylkill baseball league season will be staged at East Greenville this afternoon with Boyertown and Upper Perk men ready to rake in the stakes.

Upper Perk has a half game lead due to its 10-1 record. The Bears are 9-1, the lone loss to UP in the first meeting of the two clubs at Boyertown.

Warren Fry will start Dick Ludy for the Bears. Ludy is undefeated and holds five wins to lead the league. Coach Barney Roth is expected to counter with John Brunner, the only one of his big three who didn't work against Royersford on Tuesday.

Both teams have been hitting

All-Stars Drivers Race 2 Nights in Row

The All-Stars Stock Car Racers association is stopping for another busy weekend of driving, first at Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia tomorrow night, then back to their home grounds at Sanatoga Speedway, Saturday night.

Winners of the first three feature events at Municipal Stadium were Benny Prutzman, Fred Fehr and Bob Levegood. None of the three has been able to win a final event at Sanatoga, although Levegood placed second the past Saturday to Ray Johnson.

GEORGE MARSHMAN has installed an added attraction at Sanatoga for Saturday night. Instead of the usual Destruction Derby, a pair of five-lap match races have been arranged.

Both are regarded as grudge battles between a quartet of the track's top drivers.

Dick Rodenberger and Curt Sherman will compete in the first event, and Mose Moore and Newt Reinert, will go at it in the second match.

Red Leshner and Jim Ryan, the hard-luck twins this year, will be still looking for their first feature wins of the season when the Sanatoga races get under way at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Marshman's Philadelphia shows begin at 8:30 o'clock.

St. Gabriels Tops West End, 10-4

St. Gabriels exploded for five runs in the first inning to assure itself of a 10-4 victory over West End in the French Creek league last night.

Four hits and three walks featured the early uprising, and three more hits, including Joe Klapposky's homer in the second frame, gave St. Gabes another pair of runs.

West End put together four safeties in the fourth inning to score three runs, and added another in the fifth.

But Kuterback's three-run homer in the sixth gave St. Gabes another three runs to wind up the scoring.

FINAL THREE EVENTS GIVE PHS BIG LEAD

The Pottstown High trackmen reached their peak at Franklin field yesterday afternoon and defeated West Chester High, 67 2/3 to 49 1/3. It was the first victory in track over the Warriors since Coach Heeb Meyers has been at the helm, and nobody was happier about the win than the chief.

"This one was better than all the other victories put together," he said. With a record of five wins and two losses in dual and triangular competition, the Trojans are on the threshold of completing one of their most successful track campaigns. Saturday Meyers will send a big delegation to compete in the District 1 championships at Upper Darby. That will wind up the season unless one or more Trojans qualify for the State championships.

West Chester ranked second to Coatesville in the Ches-Mont championships Saturday, but yesterday they faltered in the final three events.

Only five points separated the two teams as the discus and broad jump events were in progress and the 220 was about to get under way.

Walt Fillman, who earlier set a school record in placing second in the 120 low hurdles, gained his second win of the day by running a 23.7 in the furlong. Lloyd Hughes placed second and Dave Gillis tied for third.

The rout was on as the discus and broad jump results were tabulated.

CARL BURNS, the PHS record holder in the jumping event, cleared 20 feet, seven inches for a narrow win over WC's Charlie Lawson who dropped out of the finals with an injured leg.

Bob Sutton, who scored in three events, took third in the broad jump with his best attempt of the season, 19 feet, 11 inches.

He also ranked third in the discus behind Ron Downie and the Warriors' Joe Sill. Downie gave with his best twirl of the campaign that landed 125 feet, one and a half inches from the throwing ring.

Pottstown won nine firsts including Fillman's other victory in the 100 yard dash. His 10.3 timing was his best at Franklin field although he did the same at West Chester last Saturday, and had previously set the school record with a 10.1 mark at Coatesville.

In the 120 low hurdles, Fillman and Sam Black of West Chester ran neck and neck down the stretch with Fillman's late charge falling.

TOP TROJAN JUMPER—Carl Burns continued his fine broad jumping in yesterday's Pottstown High-West Chester High track meet. The speedy Junior won the event with a 20'7" leap. At the Ches-Mont championships last Saturday he broke the school record with a jump of 21'2".

PHS MEETS BRIDGEPORT AT HOME TODAY

The 37th step in Pottstown High's ladder long winning streak is Bridgeport High at Franklin field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Winning has become a habit over the past three seasons for Pottstown, but the Dragons will field one of the better teams the Trojans must beat to keep their string alive.

Early in the season, PHS defeated the Porters, 2-0, as Mike Krickzy defied the Wintry weather to hurl a four-hit shutout.

Walt Gear turned in a good pitching job for Bridgeport that day, limiting Pottstown to six hits, all coming in the first three innings when the winners scored their two runs. He is tested and will probably face the Trojans today.

THE DRAGONS are fresh from a 10-0 win over West Chester on Monday as Tony Storti gave up five hits, while his mates collected 10 off Sophomore Joe Worrell for the Warriors.

Krickzy will be on the mound today trying for his seventh win of the season. A victory would run Mike's private victory string to 18 during his undefeated high school career.

The only change Coach Ed Good plans in the starting lineup is the return of Josh Sova to first base.

Dick Ricketts Hurls Dukes to 10th Win

Dick Ricketts' return to the mound yesterday afternoon resulted in a 3-1 victory for the unbeaten Iron Dukes of Duquesne over St. Francis.

The former Trojan struck out 18 batters and allowed but three hits. In this, his first pitching assignment of the season, he issued only one base on balls.

Dick had a single in three trips to the plate and scored one run. During one stretch he whiffed seven straight batters.

THIS WAS Duquesne's 10th win in a row and today they begin a weekend trip into New York, starting with a game at Cornell.

Previously, Ricketts' work was restricted to first base because a shoulder injury suffered during the National Invitation basketball tournament was slow in healing.

Hill Golfers Gain 7th Straight Win

In an abbreviated nine-hole match, The Hill defeated Baltimore Poly Tech, 8 1/2 to 1 1/2 at Brookside Country club yesterday afternoon.

It was the seventh straight victory for Coach Francis Armstrong's undefeated linksmen.

Led by Finley McRae's one-under par 35, Hill won all six of the individual matches. Jim Rowley and Bruce DeSchryver of the Hill, and Bob Tremble teaming with his Baltimore mate Lee Kolakowski, tied for best ball in the third foursome. That gave the visitors, who arrived late, their only 1/2 point.

Rowley scored a 38 over the nine hole round.

Major League Clubs Cut Rosters to 25

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP) — The major league baseball clubs cut their rosters down today to meet the 25 player limit which goes into effect at midnight.

From tomorrow until Sept. 1 each club is permitted to carry only 25 active players plus a maximum of five men who are back for their first season after military service.

The Pittsburgh Pirates sold catcher Eddie Fitz Gerald to Washington for an undisclosed amount and two pitchers to minor league teams.

Forrest Main was purchased by Toronto of the International league and Bob Hall was sold back to Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers sold bullpen catcher Dixie Howell to St. Paul of the American association and optioned outfielder Dick Williams to Montreal of the International league. The Dodgers also restored first baseman Wayne Belardi to active status. He has been on the disabled list since the start of the season following an elbow operation.

The St. Louis Cardinals asked waivers on third baseman Billy Johnson. Johnson has been in the majors ten years and under baseball law he will be given his release with permission to make a deal for himself.

In the only deal other than the Fitz Gerald transaction involving two major league teams, Cincinnati sent catcher Hank Foiles to Cleveland for an unannounced amount of cash.

In the American league the New York Yankees optioned outfielder Bob Cerv to Kansas City and infielders Jim Bredeweser and

Walcott Works Privately Preparing for 8th Title Fight

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott, the perennial underdog, worked out privately for his eighth title fight today while heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano hid out in a private home after riding in from his Holland, Mich. training camp.

Manager Felix Bocchicchio barred the doors of the Mid-west gym to the press and public as 39-year-old Jersey Joe and his "corner men" perfected their routine.

"We want to be sure Joe understands what he is supposed to do," said Bocchicchio. "We want to see him make the moves that we have worked on since the last fight."

EARLIER in the day, Walcott interrupted his Bible reading long enough to say he didn't have any set plan of battle. He pointed out that he can box, punch, hook or cross, changing his style at a minute's notice.

Before he slammed down the iron curtain on the Camden, N. J., pappy guy, Manager Bocchicchio insisted he had not grabbed any of the tempting 3 to 1 odds. In fact, there was little evidence of heavy betting on the 15-round scrap scheduled for Chicago Stadium Friday night. Unofficial odds vary from 3 to 1 to 18 to 5. There is no

It was the Blues' third victory in four dual and triangular meets this year.

The Hill's three top sprinters, Bill Andrews, Joel Meader and Mead Payne ran 1-2-3 in the 100 yard dash with Andrews' winning time being 10.3.

Andrews also took a first in the 220 in 22.7.

Meader was a double winner in the broad jump, 21' 3 1/2", and the 220 low hurdles, 25.8.

Blair had most of its success in the middle and longer distance races. The visitors captured firsts in the 440, 880 and mile.

ASHTON SCOTT won the short-hurdle event, the 120 highs, in 16.7. Joe Luce and Tony Coddling gave Hill second place points in the 880 and mile respectively. The only field event the locals didn't win was the javelin.

Phil Livingston pole vaulted 9' 6", and Ted Ames high jumped 5' 11", both good for first places.

Bob Wynne, along with Markle and Dave Armstrong gave Hill a sweep in the shot put. Wynne's best toss was 48' 5".

Chester Smith hurled the discus 119' 8" for a first in that event as Hill gained all three places for the fourth time in the meet.

GASOLINE

There is a difference in gasolines . . . a powerful difference. Recent impartial octane tests measured the performance of leading gasolines, NOT in the laboratory, but where performance counts, on the road. In test after test, in car after car, CALSO rates high in road octane. And High Road Octane means more power . . . smoother going . . . less knock . . . extra mileage in every tankful.

Yes, it's High Road Octane that makes the difference in gasolines. See the difference in the way your car performs . . . tank up with CALSO today.

Chitwood to Hold 1st Midget Event

HATFIELD, May 13—A Pacific coast midget race car and driver will see action for the first time at Joie Chitwood's Hatfield Speedway this Saturday night.

Bill Homeier, Burbank, Calif., is the newcomer who has forwarded a signed entry for the first AAA midget auto races of the season on the fast half mile track here. As his mount, he has nominated the famous Royal Cab Offy, owned by J. C. Crossan, also of the California city.

Many other prominent drivers will compete in Chitwood's midget curtain raiser. For his inaugural program, the Cherokee Indian racetrack manager has scheduled a six-event speed card, topped by a 50-lap feature in which 20 cars are eligible to start. Also on the program are four 10-lap heat races and the usual series of time trials.

The Saturday night program will open with time trials at 7 o'clock. First heat race is scheduled at 8:30.

MONKEYS

I was out to the Zoo one Saturday afternoon via television. One of the grandchildren insisted that I look at the zoological program and I am glad that I did. The subject was monkeys and it was amazing how much information came from that short half hour program. To me a monkey was a monkey. I never considered how many different kinds of monkeys there were. There is a difference between an old world monkey and a new world monkey. Some monkeys have four hands instead of two, hands and two feet. I always thought all monkeys had tails, but some have tails and some don't. Some can hang by their tails and others can't. There were many other interesting facts concerning the monkeys too numerous to mention here. There are also many facts concerning our used cars, which I am sure will be interesting to you. But there is one we will mention, and that is, that we will never try to make a monkey out of you when you deal with us. You can depend upon any car you might select from our display for performance, economy and price.

CLEVELAND AMORY discloses that among the gilded rich in Palm Beach, the manners of visitors are scrutinized with particular intensity. One affluent lady from Denver appeared at the beach in the late morning loaded down with diamonds. "You mustn't do that, my dear," said an Eastern harpy patronizingly. "One simply doesn't wear one's diamonds in the daytime." "I thought so too," answered the Western lady agreeably, "until I had them."

Robert Taylor, describing a full debate in the British House of Commons, recalls that Winston Churchill spied an aged and bent member in the rear desperately leaning forward with an old-fashioned ear trumpet glued to the side of his head. In a voice clearly audible to many, Churchill asked Anthony Eden, "Who is that idiot, denying himself his natural advantages?"

ing the artificial breathing. Dr. J. E. P. Burns, who was to operate next in the operating room, walked in to see if the room was ready for him.

DR. ANTHONY told him about the case and both went to work on the patient.

They could detect no heart-beat and see no external signs that Silvano's heart was beating.

Immediately, Dr. Burns decided to cut the chest open and massage the heart by hand.

According to the doctors who massaged the heart, it was the first time they ever had actually performed the feat, although both knew the procedures completely.

They said that as far as they knew it was the first time the massaging had been done in local hospitals.

As he made the cut, another doctor, who preferred to remain unidentified and who also had an operation scheduled, was called into the room by a nurse.

The two doctors then proceeded with the operation.

When the heart was bared, they noticed that it was still "quivering."

Dr. Burns massaged the heart for "about 15 minutes."

All the while Dr. Anthony was administering artificial respiration.

THE HEART responded and adrenalin, a heart stimulant, was injected directly into it.

(Twice before the cut in the chest was made, adrenalin had been injected into the heart.)

Throughout the morning, Dr. Anthony continued squeezing the rubber bag.

The heart continued beating. At one point, blood pressure was registered at 80 and pulse at 140.

"Two or three times I saw him take a breath by himself," Dr. Burns said.

The heart was massaged only that one time. "Once or twice a finger was placed on it to make sure it was beating," one of the doctors said.

THROUGHOUT the morning and past noon, the doctors continued to work on the boy. From the time he started until the boy was no longer responding at all, after 2 o'clock, Dr. Anthony continued administering artificial respiration.

About 1:30 p. m. the doctors decided that the only hope—and the chance was a very slim one—was to get the boy into the iron lung at Pottstown hospital.

The respirators, one doctor described, merely push air into the patient's lungs from the mouth then suck it out again.

The lung, however, makes the patient do his own breathing and takes over the function of the nervous system.

In a brief discussion it was decided it would be faster to bring the patient to the lung than bring the lung to the patient.

WITH THE respirator pumping air into his lungs, the boy was wheeled to the waiting Good Will ambulance.

Inside the ambulance, another respirator was ready for him.

After the trip across town, a third respirator was waiting, along with a crew of nurses and another doctor at the entrance of Pottstown hospital.

The transfer went off perfectly, "one doctor said. "The boy wasn't without oxygen for more than six or seven seconds at any one point."

He was then wheeled into the hospital, taken in the elevator to the iron lung, and placed in the lung.

He was kept in the lung for more than a half-hour. But there was no response from the heart. The work was kept up, feverishly, for 15 more minutes.

And then, when there was no longer the slightest flicker of hope, the doctors stopped.

WHILE THE boy was being transferred from one hospital to the other, Dr. Jesse Hafer of Pottstown hospital telephoned a chest surgeon in Philadelphia for instructions on the follow-up treatment of arrested heart cases.

The doctor replied that the treatment already decided upon—the use of the iron lung—was the correct one. After the case was described, however, the Philadelphia doctor agreed that chances of the youth's living were extremely slim.

The belief that the boy's "horrible fear of the operation" may have been partially responsible for his death was brought out by two doctors.

One doctor said he knew of cases where patients actually died of fright.

Although cause of death won't be known definitely until further, several doctors said that it may have been caused by a blood clot hitting the brain.

Science Student Says He Was Intimate With Friend's Wife After Alaska Trip

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP)—Science student Richard La Force testified today he was intimate several times with his best friend's wife. His testimony was heard during his trial on charges of trying to poison the friend, Robert Hayden.

La Force testified he and Joyce Hayden, an expectant mother, were intimate in her home, in his home and during several auto rides. He said he had suggested killing himself as one solution to the triangle problem.

He said the 19-year-old girl encouraged his advances. La Force and Hayden, a former divinity student, also are 19.

La Force resumed the stand after defense counsel completed reading amorous letters from the strawberry blond to La Force during a trip she and her husband made to Alaska the past summer.

JANITOR TELLS JURY OF ACTIONS BEFORE SLAYING

Davis Claims Relations Took Place With Slain Woman

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 13 (AP)—A handyman testified today that blond ex-actress Senada "Penny" Coats Evans invited him to be intimate with her just before he killed her in her Westport home.

It was the seventh or eighth time they had been intimate, 29-year-old ex-convict William M. Davis, 29, said in his Superior court first degree murder trial.

Davis, who admitted strangling the 30-year-old Mrs. Evans attributed the act to a fear of police brutality imbedded in him by what he had seen in a Philadelphia police station when arrested in 1946.

He claimed that when he and Mrs. Evans argued and she started to call police he "was seized by an awful feeling" because of the previous experience.

Davis attorney's are pleading temporary insanity in their defense.

THE ARGUMENT which led to Mrs. Evans death followed a day spent by Davis in Mrs. Evans' home, he testified. She had left the home during the day to go to Greenwich with a Westport man. He was one of many whom she often asked Davis to call, he said.

He took her two-and-one-half-year-old son out for a walk in the afternoon and when he returned, his testimony continued, he found she had been drinking. She offered him some liquor and they finished a bottle together, he added.

Davis said they quarrelled about some money he needed to pay for his car. She said she didn't have enough money to give him any.

"Penny you promised," Davis quoted himself as saying.

"She told me I had just got my pay or something similar to that," he continued.

"I JUMPED up and she sat up and I slapped her and she slapped me back. I felt a little insulted. I grabbed her arms and was going to sit her down. I wasn't mad. It was just like a domestic quarrel." She pulled away and said "I'll fix you. I'll call the cops."

He testified that when she lunged for the phone, he hit her with his fist but that he couldn't remember how many times. He said he remembered swinging a knife and thought he remembered winding a clock cord around her throat.

Davis who was convicted of armed robbery in Philadelphia said that when he was arrested in 1946 he saw a companion get a beating from police. He tried also to describe what happened to him in a Pennsylvania penitentiary but State's Attorney Lorin Willis' objections were sustained by Judge Thomas E. Troland.

His lawyers said they wanted to show the frame of mind in which Davis was when she threatened to call police.

LA FORCE said the intimacies all followed the Hayden's return from Alaska.

"After reading those letters," the Caltech physics major declared, "I felt that she was in love with me perhaps as much as I loved her."

He explained what Mrs. Hayden meant when she referred in one letter to solutions Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

He said he wrote her a letter in which he set forth in pseudo scientific language the alternatives they faced, now that she was the wife of his good friend, Hayden:

"SOLUTION NO. 1 was that Joyce would stay with Robert. Solution 2 was that Joyce would live with me. Solution 3 was that I would kill myself."

The science student paused, then added: "Solutions 1 and 3 were essentially identical."

Charged with placing arsenic and cyanide in water and milk to be drunk by Hayden, La Force told the jury he had frequently visited the Hayden home since the couple married May 12, 1951.

The day after the Haydens' first wedding anniversary, La Force said, he took Joyce to a movie and parked in his car with her until 4 a. m. He said that was shortly after he first told her in a note that he was in love with her.

A WEEK EARLIER, he added, Hayden asked him if he wanted to take Joyce to a show.

Asked what his intentions were toward her at that time, La Force replied: "I intended telling her that I loved her and I did not think she would appreciate such knowledge and I had no further intentions at that time."

He added that his intentions changed because "after I talked to Joyce and we went to the show, I had the feeling that perhaps she loved me as I did her."

"It made me very happy, of course, at the time and I did not want the relationship to break off. I wanted to keep on seeing her and talking to her."

LA FORCE DENIED he ever was intimate with Mrs. Hayden prior to her trip to Alaska. He said the last time he and Joyce were together was in November in her home.

They had gone to a drive-in movie and returned at 11 p. m., he said. He added he set an alarm clock for 2 a. m. and left the house at that time as Mrs. Hayden's mother came in.

Earlier, La Force's brother, Ronald, 17, told of seeing Mrs. Hayden with his brother in a bedroom of their home at about 7 p. m. one night during the third week of October.

Generals Promise Use of A-Weapons

PARIS, May 13 (AP)—Generals Matthew B. Ridgway and Alfred M. Gruenther said today atomic weapons will be used in event of attack by Russia, a threat they said had not been diminished by any recent peace moves.

Ridgway, picked to be the new US Army Chief of Staff, and Gruenther, who is to succeed him as supreme commander of the Allied powers in Europe, held a joint news conference and discussed the current status of Western defenses.

Ridgway explained that when he spoke of the continuing Soviet threat, he was referring to the Russians' capabilities to attack "not intentions." He added that he had heard of no indications of "imminent hostilities."

House Group Sets Small Cut Record

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The House Appropriations committee reported today it was unable to cut the 1954 budgets of the Treasury and Post Office departments more than 3 1/2 percent below the amounts recommended in January by former President Truman.

Based on the revised budget requests of the Eisenhower Administration for the two departments, the overall cut was only 1.4 percent.

This was the smallest percentage reduction made by the committee on any appropriation bill sent to the House floor this session.

Air Secretary Cites British Base Costs

LONDON, May 13 (AP)—Construction and maintenance of American air bases in Britain from July 2, 1951, through the 1953-54 fiscal year are costing American taxpayers $82,740,000.

George Ward, under secretary for air, gave the figures in response to a Laborite question in the House of Commons today.

Construction of the bases runs to $117,600,000, of which America put up $74,200,000 and Britain $43,400,000.

Maintenance costs, paid entirely by America, amount to $8,540,000.

Men ought to be most annoyed by

A Saga of Medical Aid

FEW stories have come to light in Pottstown to match the dramatic fight local doctors made yesterday to prolong a life.

For many hours a patient failed to breathe voluntarily. The physicians kept him breathing, then surgeons opened his chest to massage his heart and keep it beating.

Unfortunately, the patient passed away. But it was not from lack of expert medical attention. Pottstown's doctors performed beyond the call of duty in a truly heroic saga of humanity.

Parents of the young man today are grieved. Every death brings much sorrow to every family.

But they may be comforted in the knowledge that Pottstown's medical men literally knocked themselves out in the marathon fight for life. They employed every iota of their skill, their medical science, every mechanical aid to prolong this life.

Pottstown should feel assured that its physicians are ever alert to keep the spark of life glowing. They know no fatigue, they know no quitting hour when a life is at stake.

100 Years of Life—and What Life!

IF all the medical knowledge now available were used in planning individual and family life, many persons would live to be 100 years old. So said Dr. Edward L. Bortz of the University of Pennsylvania.

Just why this vision of a three-figure birthday is suggested to us humans like the tantalizing carrot in front of the donkey's nose is something to wonder about.

Such longevity would cause all kinds of problems—and not only in California and Florida, the favorite havens of America's old folks.

Some of the problems would be brand new, suggests Dr. Bortz. "The whole concept of intelligence and morality will be in question with the discovery of materials which increase intelligence and affect human attitudes in social and anti-social directions."

But he believes that medical science may provide the answers through "hormones which exert a powerful influence on the human mind."

That is almost enough to make us wish to be around while man's span of three-score and ten is stretched to a round five-score.

It sounds as though we might get rid of most of our penitentiaries and perhaps some of our schools.

In the new era, if a judge is confronted by a murderer, an arsonist or a burglar, he may have to do no more than slip him a capsule of hormones to turn him into a useful, law-abiding citizen.

A parent or teacher faced by a lazy pupil may send to the corner pharmacy for a slightly different hormone compound.

All the old disciplines of living and learning may be abandoned. Instead, civilization and culture may be induced by a pill. And a dosage of three pills a day for three weeks probably will produce sheer genius.

Indeed there may be so much brilliance all around that a person will be utterly blinded before his great-grandchildren light the candles on his one-hundredth birthday cake.

Trade, Not Aid

FOREIGN trade is a complex subject. However, one fact is not difficult to understand. Trade must be a two-way street.

An example of the constructive force of foreign trade may be found in the jute industry. The jute industry of India links the farmers of America with the farmers of Asia and, in doing so accounts for two-way trade that is of benefit to both.

Manufacture of burlap from the jute crop of India Pakistan is India's largest industrial enterprise. Burlap exports by India to the United States in 1951 accounted for 25 percent of India's total dollar earnings and amounted to $80,000,000.

About 80 percent of the imports of burlaps by America are used for the packing of agricultural commodities in burlap bags.

The use of burlap bags by farmers in turn has helped to create a foreign market for the products of American agriculture—in the year 1951 India bought $330,000,000 worth of American agricultural products, including $126,000,000 worth of cotton.

Aside from the fact that trade is the only practical alternative to pouring out billions in foreign aid at the expense of American taxpayers, this country needs the products of other lands.

As President Eisenhower declared in his inaugural address, "For all our own material might, even we need markets in the world. Equally we need vital materials and products of distant lands."

Begs for Police Help

To the Editor: Isn't it about time Pottstown was shocked enough about children's vandalism to DEMAND police protection?

I can understand how Pottstown school officials heart-brokenly surveyed the damage at the West End school. For I had similar experience at my house, where almost daily from the beginning of construction there has been vandalism.

The cement foundation and sills were defaced so the cement work had to be done over; the gutters were torn from the building three times; three large windows were smashed by stones and had to be replaced; a can of black paint was thrown on the front of the building.

I have had a painter working for days trying to remove this stain. Another large window now has a new BB shot hole in it and has to be replaced.

I have tried to watch the building at the time I thought the damage was being done, after school until shortly after dark. I found children from 8 to 16 years of age around and in the building every time I drove by.

My building venture turned out to be a very sad experience for me and I dread driving by my own property, wondering what had happened since my last visit.

I know all this damage was done by children in the neighborhood but I was unable to catch them in the act, thereby having no recourse.

If police made a sincere check, they could find children running wild in new home developments every day. Are we Pottstown taxpayers asking too much to suggest police ought to give a full day's work for a day's pay? Is anyone in charge of the police department?

Better Here

To the Editor: In reply to "Irate Shopper" ("Willingness to Serve," Readers Say, May 12), who thought Pottstown stores should have things ordered by telephone when they are not in stock, I should like to say that, while what he or she says is often true, things are better here than they are in Philadelphia.

Here, when the store clerk says somebody will pick it up when they get to the city, they mean it usually. In Philadelphia, they tell you they expect it tomorrow. Tomorrow never comes, as I can attest to with a long list of books, records and kinds of clothing that I ordered and never got.

Pottstown stores, by and large, are more "on the ball" here than they are in many big cities. But they could do still better, with more telephone service such as "Irate Shopper" suggested.

Pottstown POTTSTOWN BUYER

No Place Like Home

To the Editor: Perhaps it is because I cannot afford a Florida vacation and am jealous of those who take them, but I should like to write in and say that at present, I feel sorry for the many people who have gone to Florida this winter.

It seems to me that by their trip, they have deprived themselves of one of the great pleasures of life in these parts—seeing the long-awaited greening of everything around us, and feeling the first, unexpected hot sun on our face.

Man was built to live in the four seasons, it seems to me. Going from winter to summer then back to spring is fooling around with Nature, which won't get anybody anywhere.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DR. ROY L. SMITH, eminent churchman, once gave an address which so excellently shows the difference between theology versus true religion, that I feel impelled to quote fragments of it.

"When I was a boy in Kansas," Dr. Smith said, "I well remember hearing a talented clergyman extol the virtues of his mother."

"But he then sadly informed his audience that he never expected to meet his Mother in heaven, for she had not been baptized by immersion!"

"Ladies and Gentlemen," Dr. Smith then continued, "I am talking to you today about the Gospel of John as contained in the New Testament. And what does John say about immersion?"

THEN DR. SMITH quickly thumbed the pages of this Gospel.

"Nothing in Chapter I, about immersion," he said. "Nothing in Chapter II, either. Nor in Chapter III, or in any other chapter in the book of John!"

"Apparently then, John, the scholarly friend and student of Jesus, did not consider immersion of great importance or he would certainly have discussed it, wouldn't he?"

"A few years ago two of our church denominations considered merging. But they fell apart over a debate on Apostolic Succession."

"So let's see what John says about Apostolic Succession," and then Dr. Smith again thumbed through the pages of the Bible there on the pulpit.

"Nothing in Chapter I, about immortal Succession," he added. "Nothing in Chapter II, either. Nor in Chapter III, nor in any other chapter in the Book of John."

"RECENTLY I RECEIVED a bitter letter from a reader who took exception to an editorial I had written. 'Dr. Smith, you did not mention the Virgin Birth,' said the writer, 'so apparently you don't believe in it.'"

"If you don't believe in it, then you are not a Christian."

"This angry critic took too much for granted. I had not said a word to the effect that I didn't believe in the Virgin Birth."

ON THE PROWL

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Feeds Pups By Shifts . . . The Roses Are Out! . . .

★ PUPS ON TWO SHIFTS—Mrs. Malvin Schaller, East Greenview RD, has a Dalmatian dog that recently gave birth to 12 puppies and that has worked out an unusual way of keeping everybody happy at meal time. "She separated the pups into two groups," Mrs. Schaller reported. "She'd take one group one time; the other group the next time. And if one pup tried to move in on the other pup, she'd push it back where it belonged." Mrs. Schaller has been unable to learn how the mother dog knows which group is which, but the system has been working fine. All 12 pups are frisking around in great shape, and all seem about the same size. One reason why the pups kept trying to muscle in on another group was that, when either group of six was at supper, there were always four opportunities left open. For both the mother Dalmatian and the father, which is owned by Mrs. Schaller's daughter, Marian Schaller, it is their first offspring. They were born six weeks ago, now are being weaned away from their ingenious mother.

FIRST ROSE?—Lester R. Daub, longtime Pottstown hardware dealer, has entered a candidate for the honor of being the first rose to break into actual bloom in the Pottstown area. The flower appeared yesterday morning on a climbing rose bush that he has been nursing along for 15 years behind his home and hardware store at 114 South Hanover street. "This is the earliest I've ever seen one," he declared. "Gosh! I never saw them before until about the 20th. I couldn't believe it when I saw it. It's at least the size of a half dollar."

★ VENDING VARIETY—Pottstown industrial workers can get a wide range of food and beverage items these days without leaving their department. At Spicer's, employees can have their choice of candy, soft drinks, chewing gum and peanuts, it was reported by the office of James Spargos, personnel director. E. T. Handley, Firestone plant manager, said that in addition to the 24-hour cafeteria service, there are machines selling candy, cigarettes and coffee. Alden J. Ramsdell, personnel manager at Plagg's, reported that vending machines there sell refrigerated milk and, in the Summer, orange or grape drink—all coming in pint bottles. There's a movement afoot elsewhere to have even pie come out of a slot, but Walter A. Lohmar, comptroller of the Mrs. Smith's plant here, said it hasn't reached Pottstown. One reason, he explained, is that with the size pieces Pottstonians eat, it would take an enormous machine to hold a big enough load for profitable operation. Harold Litvin, manager of People's market, said that locally, grocery store machines have been confined mainly to soft drink ones, but machines vending nylon stockings may be on the way yet.

LOCAL WILD GOOSE—Ronald Brockway, Old Reading pike, Douglassville RD 1, reported yesterday that two Canadian wild geese have built a nest only a mile from the borough limit. The nest is on an island in the Schuylkill more or less on a line with the new Doehler-Jarvis division plant in West Pottsgrove township. Brockway said the geese have been there for several weeks, probably will be hatching little geese shortly. Brockway said the wild geese look like an ordinary goose except they have longer necks and they have crescent-shaped markings on the side of their heads. Brockway added: "It's very unusual for them to nest this far South."

★ TODAY'S ORCHID—To B. Frank Christman, the High street insurer, for ridding the North End of an eyesore and a mosquito-breeding swamp hole. Christman filled a low lot at North Charlotte street and Lee avenue with soil after it had been a veritable lake for years. It was a hazard to children, was vermin infested. He deserves civic commendation. . . . Did you notice how the past three days' heat-wave brought out the beautiful roses. Man, Pottstown's living now! . . . Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Kern, 418 Beech street, are in Pocono Manor, attending a three-day insurance conference. . . . GIVE AWAY DEPT.—Piano, mahogany, in fairly good condition. YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN RECENT draft calls, it was found that 14 percent of selective service registrants had defective arches. This bears out the belief of medical men that flat feet are one of humanity's most frequent ills.

Arch trouble may cause many symptoms in other parts of the body. People with bad arches complain of pain in the calves of the legs, aching back, slouching posture, or pains in the neck. Others feel constantly fatigued and "lagged out."

Much of the cause of foot trouble lies in faulty gait or walking, and in wearing poorly fitted or poorly made shoes. Walking is fairly automatic to the average person, and he pays little attention to it.

The weight of the body should be thrown to the outer side of the foot. In this position the body weight falls on the side that can stand heavy pressure.

Should a normal person turn his foot outward, however, a huge apparatus along the inner border. The body weight is then put on the inner side of the foot, which is supported by ligaments and muscles that stretch and are easily fatigued.

The basic approach to the treatment of flat feet is to make the person aware of his walking. He must constantly attempt to walk with the feet parallel, with toes straight ahead, pointing neither in nor out.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, May 13 — Rita Hayworth, bedded with pleurisy (of all unglamorous things!) may have to catch up with the rest of the "Sadie Thompson" company several days after Jose Ferrer, Aldo Ray et al land in Honolulu for the scenes to be filmed there.

However, la Princesse will have a good chance to "bake it out" on a sun-deck of the ship that carries her to Hawaii next week. Georgette Windsor, after a few years spent in Mexico (during which time she wed and divorced wealthy Manuel Reach) is suddenly Filmville's femme fatale of the moment. Looks better than she ever did—and she always looked good. Instead of more twirling around with Howard Lee, who's back with Hedy Lamarr, Georgette is now dating Lance Fuller. (Bulletin subject to change within seconds!)

For no special reason we give you an outspoken sigh from a top woman star: "If I had it to do all over again, I'd marry the same man!"

"RED GARTERS" finally went before cameras at Paramount. With a cast to warm the hearts of the younger fans, for sure. Meaning Rosie Clooney, Guy Mitchell, Joanne Gilbert, Pat Crowley, Don Taylor, Gene Barry and Buddy Ebsen. And there are 14 musical numbers in the film. Anna Maria Albergheiti was supposed to sing at least two of the songs, but now she's out of the picture. We love her quote on the subject, to wit: "They wanted me to play a woman of 29. . . but I'm only 16 and I want to stay in my teens as long as I can. You get old fast enough in this business without hurrying."

Don Taylor of the "Garters" cast, is fresh back from Korea which he toured along with Audrey Dalton and others. They traveled over 20,000 miles by helicopters and other means to reach isolated bases. Like all who return from such a trip, Taylor says he never felt so good about anything in all his life.

ABOUT TWO HOURS after our copy was winging its way to you all yesterday, our there-into itemed hunch that 19-year-old Audrey Dalton and UCLA student, James Brown were secretly wed, was confirmed in the daily prints. . . . Mona Freeman, who's getting around so much lately was with Travis Kleefeld (Jane Wyman's ex-fiance, at Mocambo. Also a two were Monica Lewis, so thin we hardly recognized her, and Bill O'Brien, who've been steady-dating for years.

FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME

1. She was a popular movie actress some years ago, but has switched to a newer medium—television. Born in New York, Jan. 3, 1916, she was in commercial advertising before going on the screen. She played in such pictures as "Renegades of the West," "The Great J. A. Speer," "Cross Fire," and others. After being in radio for a time she came back to the films in "Beggars in Ermine." "The Band Plays On," "McFadden's Flats," etc. She now does commercials on television. What is her name?

2. Chicago, Ill., was his birthplace and the date was June 21, 1898. He first held a position with the department of agriculture. He has written many books, several in collaboration with his wife. Books: Cargoes and Harvests, Bounty of Earth, Up Country, Down Wind, Flora of the Sand Dunes and the Calumet District of Indiana, Venice, the Story of a Provincial Town, Port of Call, Sons of the Maritimes, The Bright Lexicon, Audubon's America, The Road of a Naturalist, Forward the Nation, Immortal Village and A Natural History of Trees. He lives in Santa Barbara, Calif. Can you tell his name?

SABRE PILOTS KNOCK OUT MIG IN AIR BATTLE

B-29s Blast Red Air Strip
In Northwest Korea,
Damage Runway

SEOUL, THURSDAY, May 14 (AP)—US Sabre pilots early today knocked down one MIG-15 and probably destroyed another in the second straight day of deadly clashes with the Russian built jet fighter planes over Northwest Korea.

Yesterday Sabre pilots destroyed two MIGs and damaged one. Fifth air force reported.

Far East air force said 12 of its Okinawa-based B-29s slammed 120 tons of bombs on a Communist air strip north of the Chongchon river at Namsi in Northwest Korea.

FEAF said the bombs landed in four spots along the mile and a quarter strip, which Red labor crews were just getting back into useable condition. It was cratered in 18 places by Superforts April 19, FEAF reported.

PLANES FROM Task Force 77 plastered Red billeting and supply areas along the Northeast coast from Wonsan to Hungnam and Songjin.

The Navy said the planes started numerous fires that "were fanned into billowing clouds of black smoke by strong winds."

In the ground war, aggressive Chinese and South Korean infantrymen battled fiercely this morning in a series of small-scale clashes on an eight-mile sector of the Central front.

For the third straight day, an Eighth army briefing officer said, Chinese overran outposts in the Capitol Hill-outpost Texas area but the South Koreans either knocked them back or the Reds withdrew.

THE OFFICER said South Korean troops killed and wounded 147 Chinese in the Texas sector yesterday.

About 200 US fighter-bombers hit a big Red troop and supply center under the nose of the Red air force yesterday, but not one MIG rose to challenge.

While the sprawling center near Sinanju went up in smoke, the MIGs stayed on their base at Antung, a few minutes flying time to the northwest, licking wounds from a morning battle that cost them two planes.

Sabre jets and Thunderjets made up the waves of dive-bombers that ripped up and set fire to the center 60 miles southeast of Antung on the Manchurian border.

THE SABRES, in their new role of fighter-bombers, and the Thunderjets whooshed over in five-to-seven-second intervals. For 30 minutes they worked over the target.

When the last jet turned for home "fires were burning in every area of the target," said one of the pilots.

As the fighter-bombers pushed home their bombs and rockets other Sabres flew high overhead on protective patrol, watching for the MIGs to rise from their Manchurian bases. But the Air Force said not a single MIG came out to offer combat.

The MIGs had their troubles early in the day when they took on Sabre jets screening other fighter-bombers who plastered targets nearer the front.

Improvements on the inside and an expansion of the grounds are features of this 12-year-old home of Mr. and Mrs. Warden L. Bechtel at 923 First avenue (south of Grace street). The Bechtels recently purchased the lot adjoining at left, and now have a 100-foot frontage and 130-foot depth. They also recently replanted shrubbery. Inside, they put in a Colonial stairway, and they plan to enlarge the breakfast nook at rear. Out back is a big picnic table, summer chairs and shade trees. Downstairs are the living room (left), 16x11 feet; dining room and kitchen. Upstairs are three bedrooms and bath. The shutters are green. Bechtel is a lathe operator for Doehler-Jarvis division.

Minute Men Hear Senior Pupils Talk On Schools Today

A discussion on what training is like in our schools today was given by a panel of six Pottstown High School Seniors at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce Minute Men yesterday afternoon.

Meeting at the Clover Leaf restaurant, the Minute Men heard each Senior give an account of their various types of specialized training.

The comparison with today's school and the school most of the Minute Men attended was farther apart than we expected, explained Ralph Spare Jr.

"In our day," he pointed out, "we went to school and graduated. That was all that was necessary, but today emphasis is on specialization."

HE SAID THE pupils took into consideration such topics as science, mathematics, history, and vocational studies.

The six pupils, William Yohn, Joanne Banks, Dorothy Saylor, Joan Fox, Charles Nagle and Thomas Ingham, were brought before the group through the efforts of Minute Man A. C. Seawell.

Two new members, Frederick Kendall and Melvin L. Feroc, were introduced to the group.

Women of Grange To Vie With Men

North Coventry Grange women will try to out-perform the men in a "sisters' night" program of variety entertainment at the Grange at a short business meeting before the show starts.

Three judges whose names were not yet revealed last night will decide whether the program tops the one presented by the male Grangers on "brothers' night" at the meeting two weeks ago.

Mrs. Nettie Hartmaier, Grange lecturer who will present the surprise program, said that 21 women are expected to take part.

Master Jack Walters will preside at a short business meeting before the show starts.

Corporal Kiggins also showed two films on safety. Certificates went to Vroman, Miss Mest, Virginia Messer, captain, Charles Gaugler, Binnie Tocher, Larry Gerhart, Eva Mae Auman, Sandra Snyder, Stella Cotton, Shirley Rhoads, Timothy

British Pick Chief To Replace Khama

SEROWE, Bechuanaland, May 13 (AP)—Britain today named a successor to Seretse Khama, chief of the Bamangwato tribe, who was banished from this British South African protectorate for marrying a white woman.

High Commissioner Sir John Le Rougetel said the new head man will be Basobolai Kgamane, 47-year-old cousin of Seretse. He will get only half of the powers Seretse wielded being in charge of local affairs only.

Seretse is living in exile in Britain. The British authorities decided on the appointment of Basobolai after "tribesmen" failed to agree on a leader.

Senator Morse Gives Plea for Accord Among Allied Nations

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Senator Morse (Ind-Ore) pleaded in the Senate today for "understanding and agreement" among the Allied Governments.

"I have no doubt as to what Russia will do if she splits us," Morse said in a foreign policy speech.

He said peace in the world could be won without a war but the "free nations" must reach a "better understanding and not drive wedges among one another."

This was an apparent reference to yesterday's speech by Clement Attlee, British Labor party leader, criticizing the course of this country's foreign policy. Morse also appeared to have in mind an earlier speech to the US senate today by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) that the US might have to go it alone in its effort to win the Korean war and the cold war.

Morse said "misunderstandings and charges" by the free nations were making the job of peace much tougher. He pleaded for a halt to "these long-distance debates."

HE BLAMED President Eisenhower for "not implementing" his recent speech on foreign policy, which Morse hailed as a real indication the US was assuming the initiative in the Cold War against Russia.

But, Morse said, the President should call immediate "international negotiations with the foreign ministers of the 'free nations' to carry out this initiative."

Army Holds Soldier In Explosion Death

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The army is holding for FBI questioning a soldier said to have given a military explosive to a Chicago teen-ager. The accidental death of a child is involved.

An Army spokesman said the soldier, Pvt. Milfin C. Schaf, is assigned to the Ft. Belvoir, Va., engineering center and has been in Chicago, his home town, on leave. He returned today.

The spokesman, who emphasized no charges have been made by the Army against the soldier, said:

While on leave, Schaf gave a 17-year-old boy two quarter-pound blocks of a demolition explosive. The boy detonated one of the blocks in a school yard. A child, walking with his father about 100 feet away, was killed when a piece of splintered fence penetrated his skull.

British Ex-Official Arrives in Moscow

MOSCOW, May 13 (AP)—Harold Wilson, member of British Parliament and president of the Board of Trade in the previous Labor Government, arrived in Moscow by plane today on a private trade mission.

Wilson, who negotiated a British-Soviet trade agreement when in office, is representing a British timber concern that would like to have a timber-importing deal with the Russians. He will also explore with Soviet foreign trade officials the general prospects of increased East-West trade.

Prominent Soviet foreign trade officials met him at the airport. Wilson is a close supporter of Aneurin Bevan, British leftwing Socialist leader.

Red Naval Officer Flees to Freedom

BERLIN, May 13 (AP)—A Communist top officer of East Germany's "Sea Police" Navy who once fought in the Red army fled to West Berlin the past month, saying he had been cheated for 18 years by the Red leaders, it was disclosed today.

Col. Siegfried Gerber, commander of a Sea Police training center at Kuehlungsborn on the Baltic coast, gave "disappointment with Communism" as the reason for his westward flight.

He told officials of the anti-Communist fighting group against inhumanity organization here that he objected to collectivization of agriculture and to various "unlawful practices" in the Soviet union and her satellites. He referred to the rehabilitation in March of a group of Russian doctors who had previously been forced to "confess" that they murdered two high Soviet officials.

Immigration Board Upholds Deportation

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The Board of Immigration Appeals today dismissed an appeal by Jacob Stachel, Communist party leader, from a deportation order.

Stachel, the party's educational secretary in this country, was among the top eleven Communist officials convicted in 1949 on charges of advocating violent overthrow of the US Government.

Stachel got a five-year sentence and started serving it in July, 1951, at the Danbury, Conn., correctional institution.

There will be no attempt to carry out the deportation order until he finishes his term some time in 1956. He is a native of Galatia which is now a part of the Soviet Union.

Ex-Officer Collects $1250 in Damages

PITTSBURGH, May 13 (AP)—A former Royal Yugoslav army major won $1250 today in a damage suit against the Serb federation and two editors of a Serbian language newspaper published in Pittsburgh.

Zivan Lazar, Knezevich, the former officer, charged the newspaper published a story on April 3, 1950, accusing him of selling out his countrymen for 500,000 pounds and a promotion.

The suit was settled out of court after both parties agreed the implications made in the article were false and that Knezevich's actions were motivated by patriotism.

Police Slayer Wins 27th Execution Slay

HARRISBURG, May 13 (AP)—Edward Hough, convicted Philadelphia slayer, originally sentenced to die March 29, 1949, today was granted his 27th stay of execution. Gov. John S. Fine postponed Hough's death from next Monday until the week of July 20 pending disposition of a court appeal by David Almeida.

Hough, Almeida and James Smith were all convicted of the 1947 slaying of patrolman Cecil Ingling in a Philadelphia supermarket holdup. Smith received a life prison sentence for his part in the holdup.

The Governor said he acted pending disposition of a United States Supreme court appeal by Almeida.

Hough, now 38, received previous respite while he appealed his case through the courts.

Ingling, off duty and unarmed, wandered into the chain store as the three men were holding a gun on the cashier. The policeman was fatally shot while trying to halt

Motorist Gets 11-Count Indictment for Collision

PITTSBURGH, May 13 (AP)—Anthony Cotton, 38, of West Deer township, who is accused of deliberately crashing his auto into a truck carrying 12 persons, was indicted today on 11 counts of felonious assault with intent to kill. Charles Callen, driver of the truck, and 11 passengers were hospitalized after the crash in Indiana township April 3. Callen had filed a morals charges against Cotton two days earlier.

Hickenlooper Ends Probe of 'Voice,' Recommends Agency Be Strengthened

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) ended his recent years the nation's worldwide probe of the Voice of America today with a demand that the propaganda agency be strengthened, rather than pruned.

He said he will try to forestall the dropping of Voice broadcasts to Latin America, scheduled for the end of this week.

Said Hickenlooper, who heads a Senate investigating subcommittee:

"The information program in its entirety and the Voice of America as an important part of it, I think, should be strengthened in every practicable way."

Shirley Stauffer Gets High Test Score

BALLY—Miss Clara Gehman, corr. Phone Bally 43-R-3, Yoder Bros., del. Phone Bally 43-R-3.

Shirley E. Stauffer, 13-year-old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stauffer, scored the highest mark, 95.6, in the annual Eighth grade examination conducted in Boyertown High school.

Anna Mary Longacre, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Longacre, Washington township, scored the fourth highest mark, 94.4 percent. A total of 88 pupils took the test for entry into the Boyertown High school.

The 12 pupils of Bally-Washington townships passed successfully; their teacher was Mrs. Rosa G. Kemp.

The joint Eighth grade commencement exercises for Bally, Bechtelsville and Washington township public schools will be held Thursday, May 21, at 8 p. m., at Trinity Union church, Bechtelsville.

The Rev. Sandt, Allentown, will be the speaker. Assistant County Superintendent William B. Hersbini will present the diplomas.

STATE GETS PLAQUE

HARRISBURG, May 13 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Highways department today was presented a plaque from the National Safety council for the 1952 safety record of the Commonwealth.

Hickenlooper contended that in recent years the nation's worldwide propaganda agency "has greatly improved."

"I THINK we're learning," he added.

The Iowa Republican also said at another point that there was nothing wrong with the Voice that couldn't be straightened out.

During the months-long investigation by his subcommittee, Hickenlooper made a 20-day plane trip abroad for a first hand look at America's Cold War word weapon.

His pat on the back for the Voice was in marked contrast to the attitude of Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), who heads another Senate committee engaged in parallel investigation.

McCARTHY CLAIMED the Voice was sabotaged by Communists in the Cold War—a contention never publicly shared by Hickenlooper.

Hickenlooper said his subcommittee hopes to have a final report ready by June 1, after a few "tag ends" are taken care of.

As his three-day hearing ended, the subcommittee chairman advocated making the Voice semi-independent from the State department, which now controls it. Many voice officials favor complete independence.

Said Hickenlooper: "I favor giving the administrator (of the information program) the broadest possible latitude and responsibility in selecting personnel and in the continuity of the physical setup so that it won't be kicked around from pillar to post."

"I HOPE WE do not completely discontinue the voice in South America. It is my personal recommendation that we take a good look at that situation and that we continue the information program, including our broadcasting.

"What we come up with may not be the same organization. There may be less or more money available, but the program itself, I hope, will not be destroyed. I will suggest an interim continuation until we see what can be done at longer range."

MSA Consolidation Will Be Proposed

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.) said today House investigators will propose that the Mutual Security agency (MSA) be consolidated into the Defense and State departments.

This newest recommendation for reorganizing the vast overseas aid program will be made soon in a report by a special European study mission of the House Foreign Affairs committee, he said.

Smith, the chairman, added that subcommittee members decided after touring key European capitals recently that the MSA should be split between the Defense and State departments because the agency now is handling both military and political affairs.

He said this system would contribute to more efficiency and less overlapping.

Alcoholics a Problem In Dry Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 13 (AP)—Alcoholism has become an acute problem in legally-dry Oklahoma, Dr. H. H. Donahue, State mental health director, said today.

Alcoholics give his mental institutions plenty of trouble, he told a State legislative meeting.

"We dry them out, and they get out on a writ of habeas corpus, and when they get drunk again, they are right back in," Donahue said. "Liquor addicts, legislators were told, are crowding the mentally ill out of such hospitals in the State."
